

EXPECT MINERS TO RETURN

President Will Release Millions For Pact Defense

Nine Hundred Million Dollars For Atlantic Pact Powers To Be Provided

EIGHT NATIONS TO GET BENEFIT

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. President Truman plans today to issue a proclamation approving the release of 900 million dollars for the integrated defense of Atlantic pact powers.

Later the United States will sign eight bilateral agreements with as many pact nations, setting down the terms under which they will receive U. S. military equipment to bring their fighting forces to full efficiency.

Nations Involved
The nations involved are Britain, France, Italy, Denmark, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Norway.

It is anticipated that these agreements will provide for a small U. S. military mission in each participating nation. Its purpose will be to assemble the new equipment and train the soldiers who will man it in its use and maintenance.

The presidential proclamation was made necessary by the law establishing the military assistance program. Congress provided that only 100 million dollars of the one billion appropriated could be used before an integrated defense plan for the defense of western Europe had been approved.

Plan Is Set Up
The defense plan was set up at a meeting of the defense committee of the pact powers in Paris last December. The chief executive has been studying the plan since then.

Goods to be furnished the European powers are expected to start moving within a month. The exact nature of the supplies given each country and the amounts will be kept a military secret.

However, France was expected to be the chief recipient because of her exposed position. The French army will not be increased, but the soldiers will be fully equipped with modern weapons and trained in their use.

Emphasis is expected to be placed on heavy tanks, fighter planes, anti-tank guns and bazookas.

Drop of more than forty degrees in temperature from the high of Wednesday was noted this morning when thermometers were inspected in this city. On Wednesday the high was 75 degrees, a new record for January in this locality. This morning readings were under 30 on local thermometers. A further drop is indicated tonight, according to weather forecasts today.

V. N. Holderman and sons of Columbus, Ohio, holders of the contract on Route 422 east of the city are losing no time in getting preliminary preparations under way for their big task. They have notified state highway department officials that they will soon be erecting structures to house tools and equipment along the right of way of the new highway. Excavation work will begin when weather conditions warrant it.

Motorists in the state are facing tight deadlines within a few days. New driver's license are due next Wednesday, and at the same time the new inspection stickers on cars are required.

Auto drivers were gratified that rain did not continue as the temperature took a nose dive during the night. Streets were dry this morning.

Gem Robbery At Billy Rose Home

Report Trio Of Thugs Get Away With More Than $100,000 Worth Of Jewels

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Showman Billy Rose and his private mermaid, Eleanor Holm Rose, arrived home from a gay theatrical party at 1:20 a. m. EST today to find their art-filled Beekman Place town house looted of more than $100,000 in gems.

The high-karat loot was taken by three husky thugs who muscled their way into the lavish, four-story premises at gunpoint, trussed up Rose's butler and locked him in his room while they leisurely ransacked the place.

Major portion of the haul was of Mrs. Rose's fabulous collection of diamonds, which she had left locked in her safe in the dressing room just off her bedroom.

Coroner's Jury Probes Crash

Collision Which Resulted In Deaths Of Ellwood City People Investigated

WITNESSES TELL OF CIRCUMSTANCES

At an inquest conducted in the courtroom of Alderman James C. Brice of the first ward Thursday evening by Coroner Charles E. Allen, a jury held that the driver of the car in which Mrs. Ida Mae Duncan and her father, Frank L. Hummer of Ellwood City, were riding, and who were killed in a collision with a truck driven by Arthur Saunders on route 422, at the intersection of old 422, failed to observe the stop sign.

Witnesses included Floyd Clouse and Virgil Irwin, Pennsylvania state policemen; Arthur Saunders, Youngstown, O.; Joe Biello of Girard, O., and Dr. Donald Hourican of the Jameson Memorial hospital staff.

The state policemen stated that they were on patrol in that vicinity, looking for speeders, and had just driven away from the intersection a short time previously, had driven west on the new highway and were returning, coming on the scene of the collision just after it had occurred.

They described the general scene, and voiced the opinion that Mrs. Duncan probably had been the driver, as her body was thrown across the highway onto the berm on the north side of the road, while that of her father, Mr. Hummer, was in the right lane of travel, coming east, back of the passenger car in which they had been riding.

As Firemen Battle West Side Blaze

Smoke pours from the rear of the home of Mrs. Elsie Lewis, Eddy street, as it was badly damaged by fire late last night. Some firemen can be seen pouring water into the building from the roof, as others enter the back door.

West Side Home Damaged By Fire

Home Of Late P. S. Evans, On Eddy Street, Is Partially Gutted Thursday Night

CAUSE OF FIRE NOT DETERMINED

Fire, which was discovered by neighbors at 9:43 p. m. Thursday night, did considerable damage to the home of Mrs. Elsie M. Lewis, of 817 Eddy street. Damage was estimated at around $1,000 by Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink.

The scene of the blaze was the home of the late P. S. Evans, former alderman of the Sixth ward, and was occupied by his daughter, Mrs. Lewis. She was not at home when the fire started, and the blaze had gained such headway it was difficult to determine its cause.

When firemen arrived at the scene, the fire was rolling out of the front room, underneath the front porch roof, and firemen did a splendid job in preventing the complete destruction of the house, a five-room structure.

Fireman John Oberleiner suffered a laceration of the index finger of his left hand, when he was cut by broken glass from a window on the second floor.

Two alarms were sounded for the blaze, when it appeared as if the fire might get out of control.

Flames also spread to several adjacent homes and firemen were kept busy wetting down the nearby houses.

Lewis' Move To Renew Contract Talks Is Factor

Expect 90,000 On Strike Will Resume Work On Three-Day Week Monday

NEGOTIATIONS MAY RESUME WEDNESDAY

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Northern western coal operators agreed today to resume contract talks with John L. Lewis next Wednesday and the Senate labor committee "killed" legislation asking President Truman to intervene in the mine dispute.

Frank Amos, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, wired the United Mine Workers president that the industry representatives would meet with him in Washington Feb. 1 but suggested that the conference convene at 2 p. m. on that day.

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.

Some 90,000 striking coal miners are expected to return to work Monday as the result of John L. Lewis' decision to resume contract talks with northern and western operators.

The United Mine Workers president thus far has issued no public orders but it is believed that the word will circulate in the coal fields that all hands should be on the job next week.

Most of the strikers, who have been idle for the past three weeks, are employed by the producers with whom Lewis will renew negotiations next Wednesday in Washington.

If the strikes are ended, President Truman is not expected to intervene in the coal dispute.

Supplies At Danger Point
The Federal Bureau of Mines reported that coal supplies are at the danger point but officials apparently believe an emergency can be averted if all the 480,000 soft coal diggers work three days a week.

Coal experts estimate that the refusal of the 90,000 miners in five states to work even the abbreviated schedule has cost the nation nearly two million tons of coal a week.

Lewis accepted an invitation of northern and western operators to resume bargaining. The industry representatives set forth a half-dozen conditions that any new agreement must meet.

However, Lewis said the miners (Continued on Page Two)

Recover $428,000 Of Jewels Taken From Aga Khan

MARSEILLE, Jan. 27.—(INS)—More than $428,000 worth of the $608,000 in jewels taken from the Aga Khan last August 3 in a tommygun holdup turned up mysteriously today on the doorstep of Marseille police headquarters.

A terse note wrapped with the jewels claimed that the remainder was in possession of a gang leader originally reported slain along with his mistress during a squabble over division of the loot.

An intercontinental search was launched for the pair, still at large with three other members of the gang. Six persons linked in the crime already are in jail.

Stranger Arrested As Check Forger

Police Make Arrest After Being Notified Forged Check Was Passed Here

Police Lieutenant Thomas Jones and Officer George Sigler Thursday evening at the bus station captured John Vinkovitch, 26, Chicago, after he cashed a forged check at the Meek jewelry store. The arrest was made possible through Proprietor Arthur Meek's alertness. The man is said to have admitted cashing forged checks in other western Pennsylvania cities, and is also said to be wanted in Cheyenne, Wyo., on a federal charge.

The FBI has taken charge of the case, according to Police Captain Willis G. McMullen. According to police headquarters, Vinkovitch went to a local bank, got some change, asked for and was given a blank check. He signed the check "Edward Eskew" and presented it to Mr. Meek when he purchased a lady's watch, and received $18.65 in change. Mr. Meek investigated and found that Vinkovitch's story that he resided in East Washington street, was false, and told police of the incident.

He furnished headquarters with a description of the man. An alarm was sent to all police, and Lieutenant Jones and Sigler located Vinkovitch at the North Jefferson street bus station, and arrested him.

On his person was found $23.98, a man's wrist watch, a woman's wrist watch, a Zircon ring, a billfold, papers from the Meek store and also from the Goodrich store at Greensburg.

vote of thanks was carried enthusiastically. A regular feature of these meetings is an annual report from each agency of the Chest presented by a representative of the agencies. These reports outline the agencies' services to the community.

An increase in membership of the board of directors was voted by the members. Formerly 24 directors were elected from the membership. This has been raised to 30. Ten elected each year for a three-year term.

Elected Directors
Incumbent members of the board re-elected for a three-year term were John O. Huston, Dr. J. A. Gillespie, Dr. Frank L. Burton, L. C. Dayton, Harry E. Reed, and Ralph Audino. Newly elected directors for a full term of office are Alfred Mascaro, Andy Pascarella, George Thompson, and J. Lepere Matthews. Two-year terms were voted to Howard Cummings, and Mrs. James W. Moorehead. Mrs. John Elliott was elected for one year.

President Paul Dingledy gave his annual report. His message this year was one of increased importance because of Mr. Dingledy's resignation as president. He cited several positive steps and courses of action that may be followed to make the local Chest organization even more successful. At the conclusion of the most informative speech, Mrs. John Elliott expressed the thoughts of the whole community which is indeed grateful to Mr. Dingledy for over three years of hard work and successful service to the community.

Board Organizes
The Chest board of directors met immediately following the membership meeting. The agency budgets were discussed and it was decided to give each its full allotment as requested from any funds available. The board elected new officers. In addition to Mr. Gonick, they are: J. Lepere Matthews, first vice president; J. Preston Flaherty, second vice president; Lauri Laurrell, secretary, and Charles H. Johnson Jr., treasurer.

CORONER'S JURY PROBES CRASH

turned completely around, while the truck went off the highway on the other side of the road.

Dr. Donald J. Hourican, roentgenologist at the Jameson Memorial hospital, stated that he had examined the bodies of Mrs. Duncan and Mr. Hummer when they were brought to the hospital about 2:30 p. m. January 17, and found they had expired. They had sustained skull fractures, he stated.

Driver Testifies

Arthur Saunders, driver of the truck, owned by the City Cooperative Co. of Youngstown, stated that he was traveling east on the new 422 highway, and when he came to the intersection, saw a car come out of old 422, traveling in a northerly direction. He stated that it came out so quickly that he was unable to stop, his truck being struck near the door of the cab on the right side, and went across the highway, coming to a stop on the berm on the other side of the road. He stated that he was not going over 40 miles an hour. It was brought out that Mr. Saunders has an artificial right eye, but he claimed that this had not interfered with his vision.

Louis Fish, who was riding with him, enroute to the United Engineering & Foundry Co. plant here, stated that the car came out of the intersection very suddenly, and judging by its speed, had not observed the stop sign located at that point.

Glen Anderson of Youngstown, O., and Joe Biello of Girard, O., who were proceeding west on 422 in a truck of the Isaly Dairy company, stated that the collision occurred about 200 feet in front of them, and stated that the passenger car had failed to observe the stop sign and had come out onto the highway and struck the truck. They had to make a sudden stop to avoid being involved in the collision themselves.

None of the witnesses was able to say who had been driving the passenger car.

The jury which heard the testimony was composed of J. E. Miller, D. E. Smith, E. M. Flisher, R. C. Melvin, A. A. Webb and Bart Richards.

are ready "to negotiate in good faith, without stipulation, qualification or commitment."

Resume February

The union leader proposed that the contract discussions resume at 10 a. m., EST, Feb. 1. By his action, Lewis dealt a blow to the government's pending injunction suit against the miners. A federal district court is scheduled to open hearings in the case at the same hour Lewis resumes wage negotiations.

Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, requested the injunction to force the UMW to bargain in good faith and to refrain from making allegedly illegal contract demands on the mine owners. Denham said that if Lewis and the operators can sit down and work out a legal agreement "nobody will support them faster than I will."

In a telegram to the United Mine Workers' president, Chairman Frank R. Amos of the contract negotiating committee today stated:

"Knowing that your attorneys have agreed to appear in your behalf in answer to a rule in federal court at the time and date you have asked us to meet you (10 a. m. next Wednesday) and they'll meet with him later to resume negotiations.

"We agree to meet you in the Statler Hotel, Washington, D. C., February 1, at 2 p. m. or such later hour as you may designate."

To Decide Today

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—North-eastern and western operators were to decide today whether the quick willingness of John L. Lewis to resume negotiations Wednesday was acceptable to them.

Lewis hinted his willingness on the basis that bargaining talks would resume "without stipulation, qualification or commitment."

The operators stressed seven points upon which they would resume talks, including no wage boost and no increase in the 20-cent per ton royalty paid the miners welfare fund on all coal mined.

The United Mine Workers chief telegrapher, George H. Love, president of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., and chief spokesman for the producers, setting next Wednesday in Washington as the time and place for resumption of bargaining.

Local Wreck Train Helps Clear Rocks After Huge Slide

Pennsylvania railroad wreck train from New Castle was called to Beaver Falls Thursday to help clear away huge rocks that fell on one of the side tracks.

It was the second slide at the point in the past several weeks. Some of the boulders hung precariously close to the main tracks about twenty feet below the one buried by the slide.

Wet weather in recent weeks is blamed for loosening the rocks from the high bluff above the tracks.

pleading for something to stop his agonizing pain. Five other witnesses said she was "cool" and "calm."

Stamford Police Sergeant John J. McInerney, who questioned her immediately after the shooting in Stamford Hospital Sept. 25, said she admitted firing a "practice" shot so she would "know what I was doing."

He testified the girl was "cool and collected" and when asked how far away she stood while firing her father's .38 caliber service revolver, replied:

"Close to him, but not close enough to burn him."

Nurse Anne Goffredo told the court the girl was "calm" throughout the night, but under defense questioning admitted writing up a hospital report which was introduced in evidence.

The hospital record, timed an hour and a half after the shooting was read by Chief Defense Counsel David Goldstein. It said:

For the first time in her court appearances, Carol showed signs of nervousness yesterday while the parade of seven prosecution witnesses occupied the first day of testimony. She repeatedly crumpled her handkerchief and looked around the room, but her face remained impassive.

COMPLAINS OF WIDTH

Complaint of a Robinson street resident to police said the cartway is only 17 feet wide and when cars are parked it is impossible to drive from a driveway or a garage. The complaint asked for a "No Parking" rule.

Still Unable To Tell Amount Taken In Brink Holdup

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The FBI and police were still trying to determine today the exact amount of money stolen by bandits in the Boston Brink's express holdup.

A complete audit of the loot—estimated at about $1,500,000—was hampered because the bandits stole the tally sheets listing collection by drivers on the day of the holdup. It was disclosed that the sheets were detached from an office desk and carried away by the bandits.

Brink's officials thus far have come up with a variety of answers to queries concerning the audit. One top official was reported to have told police that a complete audit was impossible because of the missing tally sheets.

Another official said a full audit would be obtained when all loss claims are filed by the firm's customers.

Police said sufficient time has elapsed for all such claims to have been filed.

The District of Columbia has begun to collect a two per cent sales tax.

Vitality Of British Crown

The amazing vitality of the British Crown against the backdrop of a world in transition played a major and historic part today when India ceased to be a dominion and was proclaimed civilization's newest republic.

For with no urging from Whitehall and without fear of reprisals if it was not done, the Republic of India decided to remain inside the British commonwealth of nations.

Few greater attributes could be paid to the dignity with which King George has fulfilled his high office while other monarchies have fallen into disrepute and his own political parties at home are engaged in the most bitter struggle in decades.

Prestige and a fear of aggressive communism probably were responsible jointly for this unique decision.

Despite its recognition of Communist China, the British government is pledged with the United States to halt further Red advances in Asia.

Th leaders of India, knowing that their country is separated from the Red tide only by the plateau of Tibet and the Himalaya mountains—no bulwark against the political infiltration, deemed it wise to stay within the orbit of imperial strength.

They know also that Britain is working at top speed although with little publicity to develop vital bases in North Africa and take full possible advantage of that continent's vast resources.

Britain's still generally favorable position in the Middle East gives her a bridge to India. There have been rumors of Communist designs upon Afghanistan, but these have taken no positive form and it

Had the Indian Republic chosen to cut itself absolutely loose from all ties with the commonwealth, London's position with regard to its own survival would be far more critical.

Certainly the Indians had every opportunity and many reasons to divorce themselves.

Establishment of independence meant realization of Mohandas Ghandi's dream. Fundamentally, this dream was to put an end to British exploitation.

The rest of it, with national flags and a constitution, was nothing but an elaboration.

Major State Paper

To be sure, the constitution itself is a major state paper. It establishes a government under President Dr. Rajendra Prasad that is all-Indian; it abolishes untouchability. And as a minor gesture, the golden rooster, last symbol of British rule in India, was removed from the peak of the legislative council building.

However, it was not dragged through the streets and destroyed as has happened when nations removed other yokes in the past.

And by remaining in the commonwealth, the new India tacitly recognizes Britain's sovereignty if not domination. There is something symbolic, perhaps, in the fact that Dr. Prasad, a 65-year old intellectual and agronomist, was for many years a professor of the English language.

India obviously is looking toward a new form of cooperation with Britain and the United States.

Her leaders insist that there must be no tinge of imperialism in the Anglo-American attitude toward India and that full equality and mutual respect will be the keystone of future success.

The British, whose interests are deeply bound up with those of India will be careful—under any government—to respect Indian sovereignty with scrupulous care. Observers feel that the proper sort of cooperative relations may banish the fears of communism from vast areas of the earth.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T LET TOO GET TOO EXCITED

Infants vary widely in their sensitivity to what they may hear or see or otherwise experience in the physical world around them. As these physical stimulations gradually take on more meaning to the child, he has more ways to be excited. Some babies or tots may be startled by a sudden sound or sight or physical touch to which another child of like age would indicate no response at all. Most little children are far more easily excited than the average adult realizes.

Older children and adults are prone to stimulate the infant to make it smile or laugh. Even some, terrible to relate, will tickle him. Then for selfish pleasures, older persons will expose the child to exciting situations just to see "how much he enjoys them." Many parents and grandparents will stimulate the preschool child to do stunts or to spout off "learned" words or even to read or do other things to cause other adults to marvel at this child and his parents.

More Action
Ever so many infants in the crib are given toys to stimulate them to more action. I'm always amazed at the number of mothers who will hang commercial jads-gets over the infant which he can strike or kick with a view to excite action in him. Such toys are supposed to exercise the baby's arms and legs. Perhaps they do. They certainly help excite him more. They hardly favor calmness and serenity in him. Why all this haste to stimulate more action and excitement in the tender little creature?

If you felt sure your baby were feeble-minded such stimulation might be warranted. As a rule, however, the brighter and more responsive the infant is the more sure he is to be overstimulated by his parents. Yet the biggest need of the infant and young child is to provide him with shock absorbers from the already too-exciting world. (My bulletins, "The Nervous, Jittery Mother," and "Nail-biting and Other Nervous Habits," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Four Years Old
"Dear Dr. Myers: Is there any possible way you can stop a child from biting his nails? We have a boy four years of age who bites his fingernails until they bleed. We have put medicine on them, taped them and also tried bribing him. My husband has just bought him an electric train and told him when his nails grow out he can play with it. The nails haven't grown yet. Perhaps he is too young to try to stop."

It would be absurd, of course, to suppose a child so young could cure-himself of nail-biting by trying to earn an electric train. Anyway, an electric train is not a toy that a preschool child can operate well. As I wrote this mother she needs to turn her attention on slowly changing this child inside—helping him grow more serene by providing him with a less exciting environment and a calm and comfortable family atmosphere. Cuddle him often. Read to him. Help him to enjoy play with other children of his age. Be sure he gets enough sleep. Say nothing to him about biting his nails and have no feelings about it. Look for improvement only after several weeks or months. It might do no harm to keep the edges of his nails filed smooth. If you do it very gently and with no suggestion of rebuke. More on nail-biting tomorrow.

The government has launched a super give-away program—free potatoes from its huge stock of surplus spuds. And you don't even have to give the quiz master George Washington's first name!

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For everyone that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.—John 3, 19, 20, 21.

Island. His familiarity with the Indians and friendship with their language helped avert wars between colonists and the red men. He served as president or governor of Rhode Island, and died at Providence March, 1684.

His first play was published in that year, then he became a theater poet to a theater at Bergen. In his plays he fought a lifelong battle for the rights of the individual.

THE "MO" WON'T MOVE

It cannot be said the Navy hasn't tried. The battleship Missouri has been subjected to almost every kind of tugging, heaving and hauling that could be thought of. There is an inviting 1,800-foot channel extending from her stern back to the main ship channel and deep water. This was obligingly furnished through the courtesy of an Army dredge.

More than 40,000 horsepower has strained at hawsers to slide her backward into the channel and off the mucky shoal where she has perched for two weeks hard by the Naval Operating Base and fleet headquarters at Norfolk. But the Mighty Mo won't move.

As is usually the case, pixyish suggestions for getting her off have been offered. Some wag thinks the Air Force's B-36 bomber might do it. Someone else thinks dropping a bomb close aboard might shake her loose from the sucking mud that holds her keel.

All fuel, water, ammunition and excess gear have been unloaded. Extreme measures such as sallying ship (having the crew dash back and forth to rock her) have been tried. Hopes now rest on getting her off during the next spring tide, scheduled for February 2.

The busy ship's company is working with the shadow of a court of inquiry over its collective shoulder. There is lengthy testimony to be taken and explanations to be made. They had better be good. At times such as this members of the armed forces are made aware that the property they sail, ride or fly belongs to the public and that errors in judgment aren't allowed.

GERMANY'S SAGGING ECONOMY

There is unquestionably a direct connection between the startling rise of unemployment in Western Germany and the disturbing resurgence of Nazism.

Until the problem of providing jobs has been met, the prospect of holding in check the extremist groups, both of the right and the left, will remain gloomy. The cause of democracy can scarcely be expected to advance in a Nation where the proportion of unemployed to employables is more than 11 percent and where unemployment increased by 224,673 in the first two weeks of this month.

In some parts of Western Germany the situation is even more desperate, reports the Philadelphia Inquirer. In North Hesse, for example, 30 percent of the employables are without jobs; in Schleswig-Holstein, 26 percent.

It is obvious that the Western Powers have not given this problem the attention it deserves, although the gravity of the situation has long been recognized. Decisions on measures to be taken need not be left to John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner for Germany, who is reported to be about to recommend to the State Department a series of moves designed to step up production. The United Nations Economic and Employment Commission, now in session at Lake Success should have its own program.

To delay further is to jeopardize the stability of the Bonn Government and, even more important, to play into the hands of radicals—the Communists and the Neo-Nazis.

HOW CANADA DOES IT

Canada's budgetary record over the past five years looks much better than that of the United States. In fact, by comparison that of the United States could not look worse.

For example, the United States had a deficit in 1949 and will have another at the end of the 1950 fiscal year on next June 30. During the last four years, including the current fiscal period, Canada has had an unbroken succession of surpluses. Counting in the $90,000,000 excess of income over outgo expected this year, Canada will have paid off $1,730,000,000 on the debt—about 13 per cent—in that time.

That isn't all of the story, either. Last year the Canadian government cut taxes for the fifth year running. For the first time since income taxes were inflicted on the peoples of both countries, these imposts in Canada are much lower than in the United States.

And no vital Canadian government function has suffered. The Canadians seem to know how to handle a budget and what to do about a huge national debt. They make it a habit to balance the one and whittle away at the other.

This policy is paying off in greatly reduced taxes for the Canadian people. Canadians do not face the bleak prospect of being compelled to labor to pay ever increasing taxes until the end of their days.

Born in London about 1604, Roger Williams devoted himself to theology, but because of church affairs in England at the time, he fled to America and became a teacher in Salem, Mass. He encountered the hostility of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, because of his assertion that men should be free to choose their own religion and the state should have no control over their consciences. He also held that lands occupied by the settlers should have been purchased from the Indians, instead of granted by England's king. With four companions he founded the first settlement in what is now Rhode

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Essentials Of Security

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—For 10 years before 1940 the French spent hundreds of millions of dollars on their Maginot line. It was a kind of magic formula for security.

Behind this magic the divisions and dissensions in politics as related to military policy could be ignored.

I suggest that we are in danger of erecting the atom bomb into the same kind of magic. That danger is doubly great in view of the issue of the proposed hydrogen bomb.

Only tiny grains of information have trickled out from under the curtain of secrecy. Almost the only statement from anyone with official knowledge came in 1946.

John J. McCloy, who had been assistant secretary of war and right hand man to Henry L. Stimson from 1941 to 1945, made a speech on security in the atomic age that touched off a wave of speculation around the world. In it he said:

Prophesies Were Correct
"From first hand information given to me by the scientists whose prophecies were uncannily perfect during the course of the war, there can be little doubt that within the next ten years, to be conservative, bombs of a size of the power equivalent to 100,000 to 250,000 tons of TNT can be made, something over ten times more powerful than the bomb dropped on Hiroshima."

"And if we can move to the other end of the periodic table and utilize hydrogen in the generation of energy, we would have a bomb somewhere around the Nagasaki times as powerful as the Nagasaki bomb."

Those who are not mere theorists but who actually planned and made the bomb which was exploded in New Mexico that, given the same intensive effort which was employed during the war toward the production of that bomb, we would be within two years' time at the close of the hydrogen-helium type, i. e., a bomb of approximately one thousand times the power of the present bombs."

Cost Two Billion
The cost of the Manhattan project, which produced the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs, has been put officially at $2,000,000,000. That money was spent over 1940-45. It is safe to assume that the spending gathered momentum as the project grew. Two years more at the same intensive rate would put the cost of the hydrogen bomb at under $2,000,000,000, but probably not very much below $1,500,000,000.

If something like that amount is spent over the next few years on the new bomb, it will almost certainly come out of defense and foreign spending. No better indication of that could be had—and along with it a perfect illustration of the Maginot magic psychology—than the reaction of Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, when he was in a radio interview, we should make the hydrogen bomb and make ourselves strong and quit all this foreign spending.

Serious Question
Since economy is almost certain to prevail, there is, in my opinion, a serious public question as to how the money that will be available will be spent. Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska once again has warned of how defenseless is that northern and highly strategic outpost. It is the only part of the United States virtually within sight of the Soviet Union, yet little or nothing has been done to strengthen Alaska's defenses.

Many other examples could be cited. But there is a larger question that gets more directly at the danger that we may be hiding ostrichlike behind the atom bomb.

Is this whether or not public opinion, and even expert military opinion, may not be seriously underestimated the industrial and military potentialities of the Soviet Union. In his highly significant book, "Soviet Arms and Soviet Power" (Infantry Journal Press) General Augustin Guillaume, who was French military attaché in Moscow from 1946 to '48, sums up:

Defeated On Eastern Front
"Hitler was defeated on the eastern front because he never realized the true import of the deep transformations that had occurred in the USSR in every field of endeavor from 1917 on. . . and he did not accurately judge the capacity of the red army for resistance, for he had underestimated the total power of the Soviet state."

Comparisons, with circumstances entirely different, may not be too significant. Yet it is worth noting that this country is spending from 6 to 7 per cent of its total production.

One Man's Opinion

The Navy is getting interested in the Brinks bandits . . . they figure fellows who could lift a million dollars might know how to lift a battleship.

Don't think those bandits won't be caught . . . if the FBI doesn't have them all by the end of February the Treasury will catch them by March 15.

Boston has taken the bandit wave very calmly but Lovells and Cabots are traveling in pairs for the time being.

A few of the Union club members have protested the robbery there . . . they still can't see how bandits would have the effrontery to enter the club without having gone before the admissions committee with two sponsors.

One of the members said "obviously these men were not true Bostonians . . . they would know our rules."

I hear the Union league in New York is taking steps to prevent a similar occurrence . . . until further notice visitors unknown to the doorman must be accompanied by the board of Chase National Bank.

They Say

WASHINGTON — Dr. James Boyd, director of the bureau of mines . . . "It is believed that unless there is an immediate resumption of substantially increased coal production, the national economy, health and welfare of the nation is now or soon will be imperiled."

TOKYO — Gen. Douglas MacArthur . . . "Every beachhead in my theater of operations—indeed, every intermediate objective from Australia to Tokyo—stands mute evidence to the valor and devotion of our American war correspondents."

WASHINGTON—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff . . . "The Army is stronger today than any time since the end of the war."

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Acheson . . . "I do not intend to turn my back on Alger Hiss."

Mixed Grill Of Nation

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

Good Or Evil

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27.—Senator Thomas of Utah recently remarked during a Senate hearing on the coal strike: "Strikes, like wars, are bad things in themselves." This represents the viewpoint of a legislator, and it pretty well reflects the public viewpoint too. But it's wrong to suppose that Labor leaders regard strikes as an evil. Commenting on the same coal stoppage, a CIO leader told your reporter off-record: "Why all this argument over the question of whether or not an emergency exists? Of course an emergency exists. That's what strikes are for!" The public always regards a strike as a calamity, but the Labor Movement regards it as a weapon. This is why Labor leaders, no matter whether right or wrong in calling a strike, become inured to public disfavor. Only the Law—never popular opinion—governs the behavior of a Labor leader. This is the best argument on tap in favor of retaining the Taft-Hartley Act.

Collective Security

John L. Lewis is cordially disliked by most other Labor leaders—as many of them will admit in private. These men, when speaking confidentially, may well agree that the United Mine Workers needs a younger, more reasonable leader than this aging John L. But it's expecting too much to suppose that such leaders as Reuther, Green, Murray, Carey and others, who are more than willing to support the same applies to whatever ambitious Lewis rivals may be lurking inside the UMW. Anti-Lewis Laborites say that if John L. is ever dethroned, it will not happen during a strike or any other Labor crisis. Lewis' downfall can only take place during a time of Labor peace. And John L., being the man he is, doesn't work for Labor peace. He knows the value of wartime allies.

The Paternal Touch

Friends of James F. Byrnes, candidate for Governor of South Carolina, are trying to represent him as a friend of the Working Man. They say that Byrnes, because of his business connection with Southern industrial interests, has had a quiet influence for the betterment of working conditions. On Byrnes' advice, his friends say, many a Southern mill owner has gone in for air-conditioned shops, favorable wage adjustments and workers' benefits. One result of this has been that the CIO has never been able to organize the South. Another result has been the steady migration of industries into the South, bringing job opportunities and improved living conditions. Between now and the July primary elections, Byrnes will be under constant fire by the Labor unions and Americans for Democratic Action. But his friends believe that Byrnes, like Senator Taft in Ohio, will get lots of support from the laboring people—even while the Labor leaders are denouncing him.

Prodigal's Return

Like a planet whirling through space, the Democratic party not only throws off its comets, like Byrnes, but also serves as a magnet on other comets which were previously thrown off. Thus there is some indication that Henry Wallace, who departed the party in 1948, may be drawn back by the new China policy. Wallace always contended that the revolt against the Chinese Nationalist Government was a popular uprising rather than a Russian plot. Secretary of State Acheson has now reached the same conclusion, and Wallace considers himself justified. The Administration isn't killing and fattening up to welcome Wallace back to the party, but all support for the shaky China policy is gratefully received. There's another factor in Wallace's favor. He refrained from running for the U. S. Senate in last autumn's New York election. Had he done so, it's possible that Republican Dulles would have defeated Democrat Lehman in that relatively tight contest.

Vote Of Confidence

J. Edgar Hoover, as some internal evidence suggests, may choose this year to make his exit as long-time head of the FBI. Like David Lillenthal, Hoover could quit public life on a high note if the present commotion over FBI wire-tapping comes to a showdown investigation on Capitol Hill. This wire-tapping is dirt business and has no legal justification. But the fact remains that Hoover has been a law unto-himself for many years, a man whom successive Attorney Generals have hesitated to cross. Even so, Hoover has done a superlative job of guarding Federal security, and the country hasn't proved ungrateful. There's every chance that he could turn a Congressional inquest into a personal triumph—and retire to private life amid the plaudits of the nation. But it's also true that his successor would enjoy much less freedom of action. Whenever Hoover departs, the special status of the FBI departs with him.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

In her recently published book, "This I Remember," Eleanor Roosevelt tells many things about her husband, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

However, she makes it clear in the very beginning that no human being is ever completely known by another human being.

There are many passages in her book with which some readers may disagree.

Apparently there are only two kinds of people—those who worshipped F.D.R. and those who hated him.

So naturally disagreement about such a controversial person as the late President is bound to arise, particularly in a book written by his widow, who cannot possibly be objective about him.

But what I want to talk about now is this statement of hers that no human being ever completely knows another human being.

That statement applies not only to the Roosevelt, but to all of us.

The mistaken belief that parents and children, husbands and wives, men who have been business partners for a half century, intimate friends, know each other completely, has led to an awful lot of trouble.

Since we form opinions primarily by personal observation and experience, let me tell you about this "knowing each other completely" as it works in my own life. It probably pertains to yours as well.

You may think you know your wife. You may think your husband is an open book to you. You may think your children take you into their complete confidence.

You are wrong.

In every person's life there are hidden chambers into which no one penetrates.

Take yourself.

Thus even in the close and long companionship between near relatives and intimate friends, there must always be a blank spot—a loneliness which cannot be shared with anyone but one's own self.

It is good that it is so. In those moments of complete loneliness the spiritual side of the human being asserts itself.

It is then that you and I have no one to turn to with our problems, worries and anxieties, and when we find ourselves so completely inadequate, that we turn to God and come the closest to what He has intended us to be.

All School Bus Drivers In State Are Being Circular-

OTHER NEWS OF
STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The State Department of Public Instruction is circulating all school bus drivers with a 51-page booklet detailing their responsibilities when on duty. The booklet has been dedicated to "the children of Pennsylvania whose safety to and from school depends upon the skill and alertness of the bus drivers." In a foreword, the department tells bus drivers of their importance in the school system and emphasizes "they are in a position because of the time they spend with pupils on the way to and from school to exert considerable influence in shaping the lives of their youthful charges." The booklet also covers duties and operation of buses, outlines first aid procedure and gravely warns against carrying animals, firearms or explosives in buses filled with children.

Latest to be mentioned for lieutenant governor or internal affairs secretary on a Republican ticket is Cong. John P. Saylor, of Johnstown, elected in special balloting last September to fill a vacancy in the 26th (Armstrong-Indiana-Cambria) district. Saylor was elected despite strong opposition from labor which was not against him for his public record but because his Democratic opponent plumped for the "Truman Doctrine." The state constitution requires candidates for governor to have been residents of the commonwealth for at least seven years preceding election.

At least six prospective primary election candidates occupied the head table at a luncheon of the Interstate Conference on State-Local Relations at Harrisburg. However, the only one who actually called himself one was Gov. James H. Duff. Alongside Duff were four state officials who have been mentioned as likely choices for governor—Banking Secretary D. Emmert Brumbaugh, Internal Affairs Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn, and State Treasurer Charles R. Barber.

The State Department of Forests and Waters under Secretary Milo F. Draemel, a retired admiral and an old battleship sailor, has been known in the Duff administration because of the many ex-navy officers hired by the secretary. Retired Commander Edmund S. McCawley rarely loses a chance to keep the "old navy" alive and when answering the telephone in Draemel's absence states: "Senior duty officer speaking."

Pennsylvania Federation of Labor President James L. McDevitt says that the PFL's State Political league has not endorsed 1950 candidates and that newspaper reports listing "anti-labor" congressmen are incomplete. The PFL's official newspaper reprinted the voting record of Pennsylvania's congressmen on test labor votes. The state's 32 representatives who voted on the bills with which labor was concerned were split on the basis of "friendliness" to labor, 16 voting "right" by PFL standards. John P. Saylor, 26th district Republican elected September 13, 1949 was not included.

King Arthur's Knights Of Round
Table Make 'Appearance'
At Scout Meeting

King Arthur's Knights of the Round Table of bygone days added romance and chivalry at the January meeting of the Ecclesian Pack 50, Cub Scouts, held in the Ecclesian club.

The Wednesday evening meeting carried the spectators back to the days when armored knights rode their steeds across the lands in a great quest for freedom and honor. This program theme was instrumental in dramatizing the important phases in the club scouts' own crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty."

With a fanfare of trumpets the "knights" entered the hall single file, wearing their armor, carrying spears and banners. King Arthur entered to the majestic strains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

Floodlights and spotlights brought out the colorful makeup of the knights' armor and the clever horses and the horsemen. King Arthur welcomed the Knights to the Round Table stressing the Knight's code. The Knighting ceremony followed. Twenty-four knights advanced in rank; 16 were presented with certificates of graduation into scouting.

Formed Closed Circle. The Knights then formed a closed circle around King Arthur as he spoke: "We, the Knights of the Round-Table are bound together in a circle of steel. We are beginning the second great year of our Crusade for Liberty. Let this steel wall be a barrier to keep from our land those things which are not in keeping with our knighthood code of honor. Now, Knights of the Round Table, raise your spears and point them to all corners of the world. Just as your spears would go toward your brothers throughout the world if you threw them now, so can go the spirit of honor and freedom from each of you, to your brothers of other lands."

While the Knights stood in formation, one of the pack committee read the Cub Scout promise and law of the pack. "America" was sung by the assembly as the knights lowered their spears. Refreshments were served at the close of the impressive ceremonies by the Den Mothers.

Guests in attendance were from the local scout office, Boy Scout Council, other packs and Ecclesian club.

Ecclesian Pack 50 will participate in the activities for February. The theme is "40th Anniversary Blue and Gold." There will be a "Blue and gold" dinner and window display during Scout Week, February 6 to 12.

Problem Of Three
Solved By Draw

TRIPOLIS.—(INS)—Under Greek law, if a girl seduced by a man agrees to become his wife, the state will not prosecute the culprit. But the law does not say what to do when three men seduce the same girl. Arrested by the police recently for seducing a 15-year-old village girl, three fellow-villagers provided a novel solution to a novel case: they drew lots as to who would marry the victim. Twenty-one-year-old Panayotis Lambropoulos, turned out to be the "lucky" one and the girl in the case—Evangelia—agreed to marry him. To make sure that he would not back out of the deal, the police had the wedding ceremony performed in jail, with the other two culprits serving as best men. The chief wedding gift was the sum of 5,000,000 drachmas contributed by the "best men."

Old City Hall
Looks Lonesome

City hall—that was—at East Washington and East streets, is a lonesome looking structure—padded and empty. What will happen to the building is unknown. It was bought by Martin P. Berger, Youngstown, for $105,000. Many events transpired since the building was built. Social activities reigned on the third floor, councilmanic matters were cared for on the second. On the first, or ground floor, people paid their taxes, and in another section police court was held. In the annex structure, where the wage tax office and clinic, and years ago a fire department was housed, is also empty. The structure is located on a prominent corner and when occupied, or removed and replaced, will yield the city money in taxation. In all of Canada's 4,000 by 3,000-mile area there are only 13,000,000 people.

Japanese Fishing
Boats Molested

TOKYO, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's chief of operations announced today American warships have been ordered to investigate reports that unidentified vessels have been molesting Japanese fishing boats off South Korea's Cheju Island.

The officer, Brig. Gen. E. K. Wright, said the order was issued yesterday. Meanwhile, Japan's transportation Minister Shinzo Oya reported that the Koreans seized four more Japanese fishing boats Wednesday and yesterday. He said 66 Japanese crewmen from five boats seized off Cheju Island January 9th through 12th have returned to Japan from Korea without their vessels.

The Japanese fisheries board estimated the value of the captured boats and their loads of fish at 180,000,000 yen.

Baby Rocking
Coming Back

LINCOLN, Neb.—(INS)—"Rocking the baby" is coming back into scientific acceptance.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, former editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, told this to University of Nebraska students in a recent address. The doctor, who held the editorial post 25 year, added: "I wouldn't be surprised to see science get over its habit of separating mother and new-born infants at hospitals."

In discussing infant feeding, Dr. Fishbein recounted how an eastern woman physician decided to test the food selection desires of babies and placed all manner of food within reach of a group of babies. He said:

"One baby ate five hardboiled eggs, one after the other, with no obvious ill effect. Another child showed a great liking for cod liver oil."

He said this and other experiments and studies indicated that a "lot of scientific feeding practices may be on their way out."

WARNS WINTER IS ABOUT TO RETURN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Never mind the daffodil sprouts in your back yard; winter is coming back today.

That's the stern warning from the weatherman, who seemed to be little shaken at the record-breaking 74 degrees recorded in Philadelphia yesterday. Previous high was 66 on Jan. 26, 1944.

He said mercury would plunge below 40 today with accompanying high winds and occasional rain. And it will be even colder, with snow flurries, in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

So roll down your sleeves, get those blankets out again and as for the daffodils—oh what's gonna happen to them!

Colorado River
Near Completion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The fourth major reclamation dam to help harness the turbulent Colorado river—Davis dam—is reported 70 per cent complete.

Interior Secretary Chapman said water now is pouring into the dam which joins the famous Hoover, Parker and Imperial dams in helping to provide water for farm irrigation and electricity.

A lake which the dam will back up will hold enough water to cover a million acres of farm land two feet deep.

Chapman said the chain of four dams will provide a reliable supply of irrigation water for more than 600,000 acres of farmland.

Nearly 3000 Animals Die On County Roads

Nearly 3,000 animals and birds were killed on the highways last year, it is shown in figures released by State Highway District Engineer S. W. Jackson.

A total of 2,348 wild birds and animals were removed from the highways, along with 542 domestic fowl and animals.

Rabbits were the leading victims of motor vehicles, suffering 1,444 highway deaths. Next was opossums with 514.

Cats led the domestic fatalities with 303, followed by dogs with 209. Twenty-eight chickens met death on the highways. Other domestic fatalities were one duck and one pig.

Other wild animals and birds killed in the county and numbers are:

Skunks, 158; ringneck pheasants, 94; squirrels, 46; woodchucks, 39; raccoons, 32; muskrats, nine; quail, three; deer, one grouse, one.

Lawrence county was lowest in district 10—Crawford, Erie, Forest, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties—in the death of deer on the highways, with only one. Mercer county was next with six.

Second in Ringnecks

Lawrence county was second high in the district in ringneck pheasant deaths with 94. Mercer county led with 188.

The most animals and birds were killed in the month of May, when 229 met their deaths. Second high was April, with 313. Over 200 were killed each month from February through July, while less than 200 were killed each month from August through January.

September was the lowest month with 129 highway deaths. The only deer killed in the county met his death in the month of January.

In the seven-county district, 23,651 animals and birds were killed on the highways. This total includes 20,081 wild birds and animals and 3,570 domestic fowl and animals. Both of these are the highest in the district in the last 10 years.

The increase, according to Mr. Jackson, may be partly due to an increase in traffic in the past year, and also possibly a material increase in wildlife in the district.

Hint Court Action Planned To Halt Taxing Of Trailers

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Court action to halt steps by Allegheny county officials' plan to tax trailer homes was hinted last night by the Trailer Coach Association of Pennsylvania.

Owners of some 40 Pennsylvania trailer parks met in Pittsburgh and authorized an appeal to the county board of property assessment, appeals and review.

Attorney Samuel Avins said the association will take the case to court if the appeal is turned down. He branded the assessments unconstitutional and claimed the assessments would drive trailer parks out of business.

He said more than 2,500 families in Allegheny county would be forced to other communities by the tax.

SAVE KALE FOR WINTER MEALS

Kale is one of the less expensive winter vegetables that has much to offer in food value and flavor. It is very rich in iron and vitamin A and is one of the few vegetables supplying calcium.

When properly cooked, the curly dark green leaves of kale add a bright touch of color and a different flavor to winter meals. In an attempt to get the woody stems tender, kale often is cooked too long. The stems or ribs of kale should be discarded and only the leaves used.

The following method of preparing kale is suggested: Wash kale carefully and strip the leaves from the stems. Cut or tear the leaves into very small pieces and add only a small amount of water. If you use a heavy pan, the water clinging to the kale from washing may be enough. Cook quickly in a covered pan 15 to 20 minutes, until the kale is just tender. Season with salt and butter or bacon drippings and serve at once while the kale is bright in color. Kale cooked in this way is good with cheese sauce.

Finely chopped cooked kale may be added to very thin white sauce to make a delicious cream of kale soup. Bits of crumbled bacon floating on top make the soup extra good.

SIMPLE WAY FOR WASHING CORDUROY

Naturally your first thought when you buy a corduroy garment is that it can be washed. Although the fabric itself is washable, not all garments made of corduroy should be washed. Dry cleaning is recommended for garments made of more than one color of corduroy, for those that are lined and for garments that have trimming of other materials.

Washable corduroy may be laundered in the following manner: Use hot rich soapsuds and wash by hand. Squeeze the suds through the fabric. Put more soap flakes or powder on badly soiled spots and massage the spot gently with the fingers but do not rub. When the garment is clean, rinse the clear warm water until all traces of soap are removed.

Gently squeeze out as much water as possible, being careful not to twist or wring the garment. Roll in a turkish towel with the right side out.

BUY SALE GOODS WITH EYE TO FUTURE USE

January is the month of clothing sales. Some buys in clothing will be wonderful bargains to you and your family while others may turn out to be "white elephants." Only by careful planning and selecting can you be a wise buyer.

Before buying any piece of clothing, ask yourself, "Do I need it? Will it fit into the present wardrobe?" Articles bought on the spur of the moment may not be suitable, but if you plan your wardrobe with an eye toward the future, a sale article may be a good buy.

If you buy ready-made garments at the end of the season, it is important to keep fashion trends in mind. Choose a conservative or classic type which is good any time.

High fashion clothes are seasonal. Check ready-made garments for cut and construction. A garment that is cut on the grain line, well-stitched and finished will not only look better but last longer.

Not only in the ready-to-wear departments will you find bargains but many stores put yard goods on sale. It is a good idea to buy standard fabrics, such as gingham, percales and so on which are always handy to have. Good quality remnants in colors to fit the wardrobe are excellent buys.

NEW MATERIALS HELP MAKE HOUSEWORK EASIER

New developments in the manufacture of house furnishings help to cut down on the work required to keep them presentable.

Glass, plastic and composition materials used on table tops, work surfaces and other places where hot dishes are set, eliminate the need for mats and coasters.

Metal legs on tables and chairs will resist scuffs and scratches and require less polishing. Plastic upholstery fabrics are easy to clean and are particularly suitable for furniture getting hard use. Foam rubber cushions keep their shape without fluffing.

A variety of shelves, racks and partitions are available for aiding to cut down on the work required to keep them presentable.

Plastic dishes are becoming more serviceable. Where china and glassware have hard usage and breakage is high, replacements of plastic will probably save money. Plastic dishes will chip and show surface deterioration with use. However, records show a saving of 50 per cent in average cost over the use of china and glassware for the same period. Plastic dishes are lightweight and easy to handle.

Drivers of commercial vehicles are responsible for approximately half of all motor vehicle accidents.

FEAR FRUIT DAMAGE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Three days of unseasonably warm weather today prompted fear among fruit-growers that damage to peach and apple trees will result if temperatures suddenly drop to near zero.

A gradual drop in temperature will toughen leaf buds and thereby avert serious losses in the state's $20,000,000-a-year fruit growing industry, according to the State Horticultural Association.

Two Deadlines Facing Motorists

Warning motorists to lose no time in having their vehicles inspected and renewing their drivers' licenses. R. B. Maxwell, of Harrisburg, secretary-manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, representing 58 member AAA automobile clubs in the state, today called attention to the two deadlines which arrive at midnight, January 31.

"Both the deadline for motor vehicle inspections and the time by which driving privileges must be renewed arrive at the same time," Mr. Maxwell said.

"With only a few days remaining in which to attend to either of these details, motorists who have neglected to have their cars inspected or renew their drivers' licenses should by all means do so at once," he urged.

"Failure to have a car inspected or to carry a new driver's license will mean that it will be illegal to operate a motor vehicle after the deadline," the PMF official pointed out.

"Since ample time was allowed for all motorists to have their cars inspected and to secure their new driver's license," he continued, "they will have only themselves to blame if they cannot legally operate a motor vehicle after the deadline on Tuesday."

Sgt. C. Morganti Military Funeral

Family To Attend Services At Arlington National Cemetery
Thursday, February 2

Military funeral services for Staff Sgt. Camillo J. Morganti, 503 East Winter avenue, this city, who at the age of 26 years gave his life for his country while a member of the U. S. Army Air Corps, will be conducted Thursday, February 2, at the Arlington National cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Attending services will be his father, Nazareno Morganti, and sister, Miss Gisella Morganti, 503 East Winter avenue, and sister, Miss Annabelle Morganti, Washington, D. C.

Staff Sgt. Morganti paid the supreme sacrifice on March 2, 1945 on the island of Formosa. As a radio operator gunner, his entire bomber crew were strafing the Taichu airdrome on Formosa, when shot down by the enemy. The entire crew lost their lives. He had, at the time of death, served overseas for 11 months.

Although he was killed in action, the body was not recovered until late last year. The family here was notified that at the time the plane crew crashed to their deaths, the bodies were buried by the natives.

The bodies were identified in November, 1949, and taken for burial to China, and from there they were placed in the mausoleum army barracks in Hawaii. The last lap of their journey was home to the United States and burial in the Arlington National cemetery.

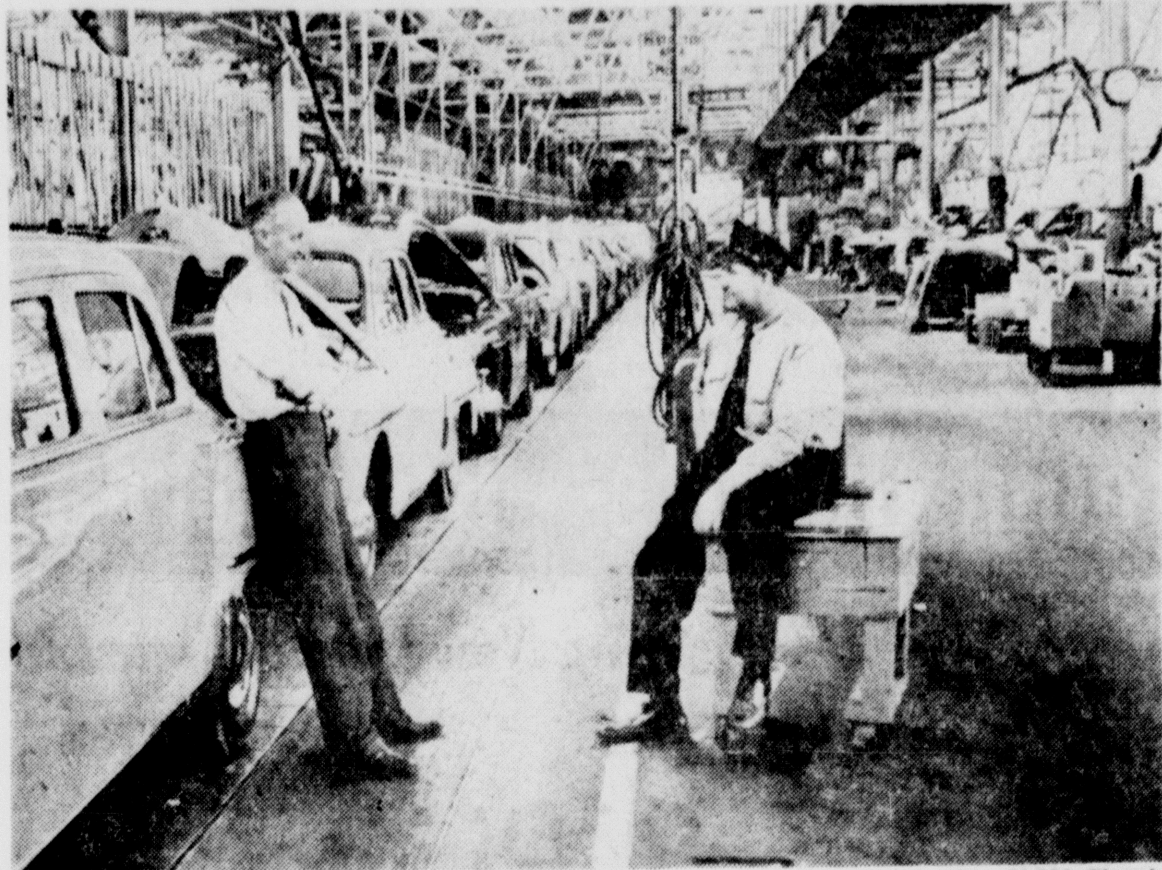

Staff Sgt. Morganti was born March 3, 1917, in New Castle. He was graduated from New Castle senior high school and the Art Institute of Pittsburgh. He enlisted for service from Columbus, O.

In addition to his father and two sisters who will attend the military funeral, he leaves another sister, Mrs. Harry Davis, this city; and brothers, Richard and Romeo Morganti, this city, and Roger Morganti, Niles, O. The brothers will also attend services in Washington, D. C.

Farm Production Maintains Record During Year 1949

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)

—Farm production for sale and home consumption of all commodities combined stayed at the record 1948 level during 1949.

The Agriculture department said the record was kept running despite the fact that neither livestock nor crops, taken separately, was at record production levels.

Livestock was three per cent below the 1948 level—seven below the 1948 peak—and crops dropped off four per cent from the 1948 peak during 1949.

And, the department added, farmers' cash receipts from marketings during January will reach about two and one-fifth billion dollars.

When the final January tallies are in, the department expects cash receipts to have dipped seasonally from December for a 10 per cent slice from receipts in January 1949.

Final figures will show that although the volume of marketings this month were about the same as a year ago the cash receipts will be lower due to lower prices.

BEWARE HITCHHIKERS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(INS)—"Beware of hitchhiker" the Keystone Automobile Club warns Pennsylvania motorists.

Many kindly motorists who concede to the "upraised thumb" are placing themselves in grave danger, the club says.

Hitchhikers may "rob you, shoot you, steal your car, even kill you," KAC points out and says the only way to avoid this is to avoid hitchhikers.

Medure Gets Assurance Of Park Picnics

Joseph F. Medure, councilman in charge of Cascade Park, today reported that he has been virtually assured of three large picnics at the city's amusement center this summer.

He said talks he had with employees representatives of the Shengango Pottery, Standard Spring and United Engineering gave him the impression they would picnic there in 1950.

Mr. Medure is a firm believer in "patronize your home town," hence he is seeking the cooperation of all local plants here to hold their outings at the city's park.

Master Mind Of Boston Robbery Is Being Sought

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Specially-picked FBI agents sent from Washington by J. Edgar Hoover were reported to be checking up on a purported "master-mind" of New England crime who may have engineered the $1,500,000 Brink's Express company robbery.

Despite intensive investigation by thousands of New England police and an unknown number of federal agents, there is no known clew so far to perpetrators of the huge robbery ten days ago.

The man reportedly being shadowed by selected FBI experts may be the "overlord" of New England crime, according to the Boston America. It was reported this gang leader has had his headquarters for 20 years in the same neighborhood as the Brink's Armored Express plant.

FBI men reportedly were working on the theory that no big robberies were pulled off in the Boston area unless this gang leader knew about it—either before or after.

Federal agents were reported convinced the Brink's bandits have already contacted the underworld boss, or will do so to pay him his cut from the robbery.

Lookout Mountain Incline Railroad Gets 'Face Lift'

By DAVID L. DAY
(Central Press Correspondent)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—The "moving landmark" of this city, the famed inclined railway running nine-tenths of a mile up the steep side of Lookout mountain has had its face lifted. It is now streamlined, modernized, made a colorful spectacle.

Millions of people from every state and from all civilized parts of the earth have been thrilled for 54 years by the ride up and down the historic mountain. No visit to the city is considered complete without at least one round-trip on Lookout Mountain Incline, the world's steepest railway.

The long utilized wheezy pair of cars are no more. In their stead are two two-tone orange jobs. Each of the cars has not only spacious side windows but also glass tops through which passengers obtain a variety of angle views of both the city and the Tennessee river, now converted by locks and dams into the "Great Lakes of the South."

As two well buckets on a windlass, so operate the two orange hued cars on the mountain railway. As one starts down, it helps pull the other one up.

They pass naturally at the half way point, with additional power now electrical. At one time, a steam power plant atop the mountain provided this additional pull.

Recently completed, with a modernistic station at the base of the incline, the novel railroad has become a prime attraction. Vast crowds will enjoy rides in the near future on the new incline cars. Letters have arrived from persons more than 1,000 miles away. They are bringing children and grandchildren to enjoy the ride as they did themselves possibly 35 or 50 years ago.

Old Hotel on Top

Many recall the hotel adorning the summit for so many years. And the mansions, pride of the Chattanooga area.

At one time, the incline railway provided transportation for these permanent residents, hauled their freight, and even sold them coal from the steam plant.

Many visited the incline this year on the 86th anniversary of the Battle Above the Clouds.

The battle happened this way: Gen. Joe Hooker and his blue-clad Union soldiers crossed the river below the city on the afternoon of November 23, 1863, taking position west and below Lookout. The Confederates were not especially worried. Their position atop the mountain was regarded as virtually impregnable.

However, the following morning, Hooker seized their rifle pits at the base of the mountain. He looked upward. A dense fog covered the summit. Finding the troops eager to press forward, he ordered an advance.

The mountain side was scaled and a complete victory was won by 2 p. m. The fight had started at 8 a. m.

Visitors now see all the points of battle which are marked with monuments from many states. The "battle part" of the mountain now is a unit of the Chattanooga-Chickamauga military park.

When the remodeled railway was opened for business, it was

Hirohito's Third Daughter Engaged

TOKYO, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito's third daughter, rejected by the son of Japan's top-most Buddhist priest, is going to marry the son of a high Shinto priest.

The imperial household in Tokyo announced that Princess Kazuko Taka, 20, is engaged to Toshimichi Takatsukasa, 26.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of a Shinto grand priest and former prince, Nobusuke Takatsukasa, of the Meiji shrine. The young man is a railroad engineer employed by the Japanese travel bureau.

Princess Kazuko previously has been reported engaged to marry her first cousin, Okosho Otani, son of Grand Buddhist Abbot Kocho Otani, the highest-ranking prelate of his faith in Japan.

Okosho Otani's parents, returning last November from a tour of the United States, conferred with Emperor Hirohito, and Empress Nagako and then announced the engagement.

Kosho, who is 25, balked. He said he did not want to marry until he attended an American university and completed philosophical studies.

Bricker Wants Most And Best Atomic Weapons

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), returned today to the joint congressional atomic energy committee and immediately demanded the "most and the best" atomic weapons for the U. S.

Bricker, a former member, rejoins the committee today as result of the resignation of the veteran Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

Asked if he favors pressing ahead on development of the super-powerful hydrogen bomb, Bricker said:

"We ought to develop every phase of nuclear physics."

"We should always keep in mind the possibility of adapting atomic energy to civilian needs."

"But as long as it is a weapon we should have the most and the best."

Lilienthal Will Quit February 15

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Chairman David Lilienthal said today at a conference with President Truman today that he will leave the Atomic Energy Commission on Feb. 15.

But he issued a vehement denial of widely published stories that he had offered to negotiate with the Kremlin on control of atomic weapons.

Lilienthal described as "utterly absurd" all stories that have represented him as having suggested to the president that he be sent to Moscow to seek an agreement with Premier Stalin on outlawing such weapons as the atomic bomb and the new "H-bomb."

What Will The Neighbors Say?

How often that question has been used to keep children in line. Nor have grownups been free of its tyranny!

Perhaps it's a very hot day and ten-year-old Danny wants to go outside without a shirt. Suzanne likes to play ball with the boys and is good at it. Dad enjoys working in the garden in a pair of dirty, torn but comfortable pants. Mother doesn't enjoy playing bridge and would like to decline invitations to do so. Yet, far too often, fear of the neighbors gets in the way of these perfectly normal but unconventional ways of behaving.

To be sure, we can't, nor should we, ignore the attitudes of other people. We are all part of a com-

New Navy Flying Lab Takes Test Flight At Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A new Navy flying lab takes test flight in preparation for exploratory use of Navy's airborne early warning radar equipment (above). Use of radar in the air will overcome basic limitations of shipboard and surface radar in the plane's camel-like humps will permit early detection of enemy targets at great distances.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

(Distributed By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—If—somehow, some way—Arthur Treacher could in the future avoid both butler roles and simultaneous unemployment, he would be the happiest actor alive.

"Come the revolution, or a Hollywood series of 'Grapes of Wrath' or a flock of 'Tobacco Roads,' how do I eat?" demanded Mr. Treacher, a man who likes to eat, over a plate of melted cheese and Canadian bacon at Lindy's restaurant.

"There are no butler parts in those and unless I am un-type-cast, the future may see me in hunger and in rags," he prophesied, not too gloomily, as he flicked an imaginary speck from his re-splendent Glen Urquhart suit.

Avoids Type-Casting

Mr. Treacher runs away from Hollywood periodically to avoid such type-casting and to impress upon his masters that he wishes to relinquish forever his title as Hollywood's first gentleman's gentleman.

He took a cross-country powder to New York a few months ago and fetched up on Broadway. There he can be seen regularly as one of the bright luminaries of Sir Cecil Hardwicke's revival of George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

As Britannus, Caesar's British slave and secretary, Mr. Treacher kicks up his heels happily, free of livery and domestic service.

He is happy, that it, as is possible for an actor who underestimates himself, GBS and the cultural yen of the public. When the offer of the part of Britannus reached him in Hollywood, Mrs. Treacher told her spouse:

"You'll get a sharp hundred dollars a week for this."

Yes, but think of the prestige, cried Mr. Treacher as he carried his carpet-bag up from the basement. Why not prestige and peanuts for a mere ten weeks, his own estimate of the revival's prospective run, he argued, if he could flee Hollywood once more and show 'em he was a versatile actor, capable of playing something besides butlers?

In for Prestige

"So now I am in this play, as are we all, on short money for prestige, and it looks as if it will run at least till June. Maybe through summer," the ex-butler explained in his genuine, Grade A British accent, clipped as a poodle and sharp as high C.

The play grossed $28,000 last week, and that, explained the fugitive from Hollywood, ain't stage money or old Roman hay.

A very pretty woman at the next table leaned over, handed Mr. Treacher a book of matches and asked him to be so kindly as to autograph it for her little girl. He obliged with a flourish.

"Look at that woman," he commanded in a stage whisper, as he handed back the matches. "Whenever they're pretty, they always want your autograph for a daughter, or a son or a husband. But when they're homely as sin, they always want it just for their very own. Never knew it to fail."

The United States acquired Mr. Treacher permanently from England at the beginning of the war.

State Subsidy Of $295,000 For Butler Housing

HARRISBURG, Jan. 27.—(INS)

—Award of a $295,000 state subsidy to Louis Marhofer, of Pittsburgh, for construction of $858,600 worth of low cost housing in Butler was announced Thursday by the state planning board.

State Commerce Secretary Theodore Roosevelt, III, chairman of the board, said 25 four-family two story garden type buildings will be erected. The units will be connected in eight buildings containing garage space for 28 automobiles, he added.

The contract calls for Marhofer to operate the project for 28 years under state supervision. Monthly rentals will range from $52.50 for one bedroom apartments to $62 for three-bedroom apartments.

"He came with the cook," Mr. Treacher explained. "She was married to him. Those were in the old days when you got two for the price of one. He butted on company nights, chauffeured on odd Thursdays, took out the ashes, on Monday and did general cleaning, polishing and gardening in between."

Now that he has run away from Hollywood again and covered himself with critical glory once more on Broadway in a non-butting part Mr. Treacher is confident that when he returns to Hollywood this time, he will be offered a simply wonderful part.

You've guessed it! As a butler!

Why Should a Dollar's Worth of Travel Continue to Cost You $1¹⁵?

"IS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?" you were asked in 1941, when every inch of space was needed for troops and war supplies.

To discourage travel then, a tax was added on your travel dollar, a tax that grew to 15% during the war. The Federal Government collected it through the railroads. The Government still collects it, though your travel need not be rationed now.

Today, the original purpose of this tax is as obsolete as an Air Warden's helmet. But, four years after the war's end, YOU are still paying the Government at the rate of $250,000,000 a year in travel tax.

And, of the billion and three quarters collected since 1941, over half came out of your pocket after the green light on travel went on again.

You don't have food rationing today... you don't have gasoline rationing today.

Yet, a very real brake is still being put on travel. On a coach trip from New York to Chicago, for example, YOU are still paying $4.61 in Federal tax.

And the same with the goods that are shipped to your home community. On every dollar you pay for freight, you pay the Government an extra 3 cents (4¢ a ton on coal). That means YOU are still paying over $300,000,000 a year—freight tax alone.

This tax should be repealed NOW. There is no longer any reason you should pay $1.15 for every dollar's worth of travel... $1.03 for every dollar of railroad freight.

State Man Heard At S. S. Meeting

Five Objectives For Coming Year Outlined At Shenango U. P. Church Thursday Evening

An enthusiastic group of Lawrence County Sabbath School Association workers assembled on Thursday evening in the Shenango U. P. church, Wilmington road, for the annual planning conference of the association. L. Butler Hennon, county president, presided over the afternoon and evening sessions of the highly successful conference.

The Sunday school workers received with interest the recommendations of Ira Sassaman, state council representative from Harrisburg, when he pointed out to the group the five main objectives of the state organization which they hope that each county association will have in operation by the end of the year.

Mr. Sassaman urged a greater and closer understanding between the various districts and the ministers; trained leadership; emphasis on Bible reading; regular seasons of prayer and enrollment of our adult groups with the state organization. He also stated that each county should have a particular aim or project. The state project is labeled "Seeds of Peace".

Well Represented
The sessions opened at 5 p. m. with a devotional period led by rank C. Wiley of Ellwood City after which president Hennon outlined the county objectives for the year 1950. He pointed out that the coming county convention on May 13 will be held during national family week. Mr. Hennon in the roll call learned that every one of the eight districts in the county was represented at the conference.

Outstanding result of the Thursday meeting was the fact that the representatives each had a voice in stating their desires and opinions. The county was commended on its high percentage of leadership training courses conducted last year, with 24 being held, making it one of the best records in the state.

The dinner event at 6:15 proved very successful with a capacity crowd dining in the church parlors.

Other county leaders heard during the conference included: Mrs. Thomas Elliott, county secretary; Mrs. B. F. Johnson, children's superintendent; Mrs. H. F. Barber, youth director; Clark Denniston, first vice president, and Harold Vance, second vice president.

The first American daily, a two-cent newspaper, was published in 1833 by Horace Greeley, Francis V. Story and H. D. Shepard in New York City. Called the Monday Morning Post, it failed in three weeks.

Report Decline In Cost Of Living

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The government reported further declines in the cost of living Thursday and said that food prices are at their lowest level in two and one-half years.

The bureau of labor statistics said the overall cost of living went down 0.7 per cent last month, paced by a drop of 1.7 per cent in food costs.

Chiefly responsible for the appreciable decline in food prices was a 2.6 per cent downward in the prices of meats, poultry and fish and a slash of 14.3 per cent in egg prices.

BLS officials said food costs are now at their lowest point since August, 1947. They dropped 3.3 per cent during 1949 and are nine per cent under the peak level in the mid-summer of 1948.

The overall cost of living went down 2.3 per cent during 1949 but still is 26 per cent above June, 1946, when price controls were removed, and 70 per cent above the pre-war level.

It was decided to choose a chapter in Harleigh Tecker's "Social Group Work" for professional study. The attendance at the Community Chest meeting was discussed.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Add to the gallery of historic characters on Cape Cod the Brewster fisherman who hated tourists, and nailed a sign on his fence that read simply, "No hunting—no fishing—no nothing." It was another hardy native of Brewster—a sea captain—who sailed across the world in his schooner a hundred years ago, and beseeched by the bride he left at home to write while he was away, sent this tender message from Hong Kong: "Dear Arathusy: I am here and you are there. P. Hawes."

Maxwell Perkins, late editor of Scribner's, and invaluable counselor and friend to authors like Thomas Wolfe and F. Scott Fitzgerald, was the sort of man who inspired confidence in others. Comparative strangers would pour their unsolicited and innermost secrets into his ears. He once commented ruefully, "Funny thing how the very people whose memory is so perfect they can give you the exact details of events that transpired 30 years ago don't seem to recall that they told you precisely the same story less than two weeks ago."

The Yellow river and the Yellow sea are named because of their color, the result of huge amounts of soil washed into the sea by the river.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—Elizabeth Taylor is all aflutter inside—and it's not because she's starring opposite Spencer Tracy in "Father of the Bride" either.

Tonight is a milestone in the 17-year-old star's life—she graduates from University High and she'll frame the diploma in her studio dressing room.

For the past three years the actress has been tutored by the two teachers assigned by the board of education to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

Just Like Others

She could have received the diploma in the mail or had it handed to her by either Mary MacDonald or Mrs. Mina Deferris, her teachers. But the dark-eyed actress insisted that she get her diploma just like other high schoolers.

Liz's teachers said that the film star passed her final exams "with honors." She was best in civics, they said, but also good in Spanish, history and English.

One of the studio's graduation gifts to Liz was the day off from the "Father of the Bride" set. Liz needed it for fittings in her cap and gown and to practice with the other graduates in marching down the aisle of the high school auditorium.

Goes To Work

Tomorrow she dons makeup at 7 a.m. and reports back to the studio set for her first full day's work on the lot in three years. According to board of education rules, Liz had to put in three hours' study a day on the books before 4 p.m. and had to stop work at 5 p.m. The actress couldn't believe that her schooling was over. She declared:

"It's hard to believe that I can put in a full day's work now—that I won't have to have a nose buried in a book when I'm not before the cameras."

Carves Initials

When Liz finished her final exams a few days ago, she observed tradition in MGM's school room and carved her initials on the bench that also bears the scribbling of Lana Turner, Kathryn Grayson, Mickey Rooney, Jane Powell and Jody Garland, some of the stars who matriculated on the studio lot.

After a couple of weeks' vacation—from school books—Liz plans to "monitor" a few courses during the spring and summer sessions at nearby U.C.L.A.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—Kirk Douglas, who has been reading about man-made machines that can "think" and "remember," believe that actors won't have to worry about their jobs until some smart scientist comes up with a gadget that has a face like Joan Crawford's or a physique like Burt Lancaster's.

"They tell me," Douglas said, "that these fantastic computing machines even have temperament and neuroses, which would certainly qualify them for acting jobs. But I don't think they are much of a threat until somebody can cover their tubes and wheels with a little glamor."

Always Threatening

An actor's career is always being threatened one way or another, Kirk figures—whether it's by age or fading talents or changing public tastes or bright newcomers. That's why he started worrying.

when he heard about the machines that work in 100 hours complicated problems that would take man 100 years to do.

"If they can do that," he said, "It won't be long before they learn to act."

Their glamor-less appearance, however, gives Kirk hope, and he's not about to throw in the sponge to the machines until somebody shows him one with legs as pretty as Betty Grable's or a voice as authoritative as Humphrey Bogart's.

BIG ROLE FOR BOB

Robert Taylor has been told to pack his bags come the first of June for a starring role in "The biggest picture in 15 years"—"Quo Vadis."

Taylor clinched the coveted role of the Roman Patrician in the epic to be filmed in its entirety in Rome because his knees and shanks photographed better than did Gregory Peck's.

Both players, along with British star Stewart Granger, were tested in the toga's and briefs to be worn in the picture. It turned out that Taylor's legs were much more photogenic than Peck's, so Taylor gets the role.

Girl Lead Unchosen

The feminine lead is still to be cast. Both Jean Simmons, who scored as Ophelia in "Hamlet," and Elizabeth Taylor are prominently mentioned for the part of Lygia, the Christian Slave.

The only other castings completed are Britisher Leo Genn, as Petronius, a Roman who commits suicide upon a whim of Nero, and Peter Ustinov, who portrays the Mad Emperor who throws Christians to the lions and sets Rome ablaze.

SAFER SUMMER

CLEVELAND—(INS)—If you're a person who likes to walk, do most of it in the summer—it's safer. The Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau reported that in the summer, deaths reached a minimum of 23 percent below the average monthly death total for the year.

'Cornerstone' Of White House Not To Be Moved

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. S. Special Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The ancient "cornerstone" of the White House, located after it had been "lost" for a century and a half, will not be disturbed during reconstruction of the executive mansion.

The commission on renovation of the White House has decided that the polished brass plate shall remain in the historic setting in which it was placed in 1792.

Old records failed to show the location of the cornerstone. It was believed to have been placed in the northeast corner of the mansion, as was the practice of the Masonic order, of which President George Washington was a member.

The plate instead was placed in the foundation by masons of near-by Georgetown, then a populous port on the Potomac river a few miles from the muddy hamlet that was to become the present metropolitan capital.

It remained for a wartime mine detector to find the brass plate. This was pressed into service by Col. Douglas H. Gillette, of the army engineers. The mine detector located the ancient cornerstone on the southwest corner of the edifice.

Bears This Inscription

The plate bears this inscription: "This first stone of the President's House was laid the 13th day of October, 1792, and in the 17th year of the independence of the United States of America."

"George Washington, president, Thomas Johnson, Doctor Stewart, Daniel Carroll, commissioners, James Hoban, architect."

"Colleen Williamson, master-mason. "Vivat Respublica."

Inasmuch as the original outside walls of the mansion are to remain intact in the reconstruction of the White House interior, the commission has thought it best to leave the cornerstone untouched.

George Washington was in Philadelphia and did not get to attend the cornerstone-laying ceremony at the house which he never occupied but which was to become the home of the nation's future presidents.

But the White House has in its possession an ancient account of the ceremony. The ceremony was described in the edition of the Charleston, S. C., City Gazette of November 15, 1792.

A Masonic procession, according to the newspaper account of that day, formed in Georgetown at Stter's Fountain Inn. The paper relates:

"The Free Mason in Masonic order. The commissioners of the federal building. Gentlemen of the town and neighborhood. The different artificers, & C. They proceeded in procession to the President's Square. The ceremony was performed by Brother Casanova, master of the lodge, who delivered an oration well adapted to the occasion."

Sen. Vandenberg To Resign Atomic Committee Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Sen. Vandenberg (R, Mich.), on Thursday confirmed reports that he will resign from the congressional atomic committee.

Vandenberg said he will submit his resignation and that under senate GOP conference rules he will be succeeded by Sen. Bricker (R, Ohio).

The veteran senator, ranking GOP member of the foreign relations committee, said his health forces him to give up the atomic assignment. He told newsmen:

"I am filing my resignation. The work of the committee requires continuous attention which I cannot give it in connection with my other senate work since I am somewhat limited in my activities."

Bricker is a former member of the joint atomic committee. He was displaced when Republicans lost control of congress.

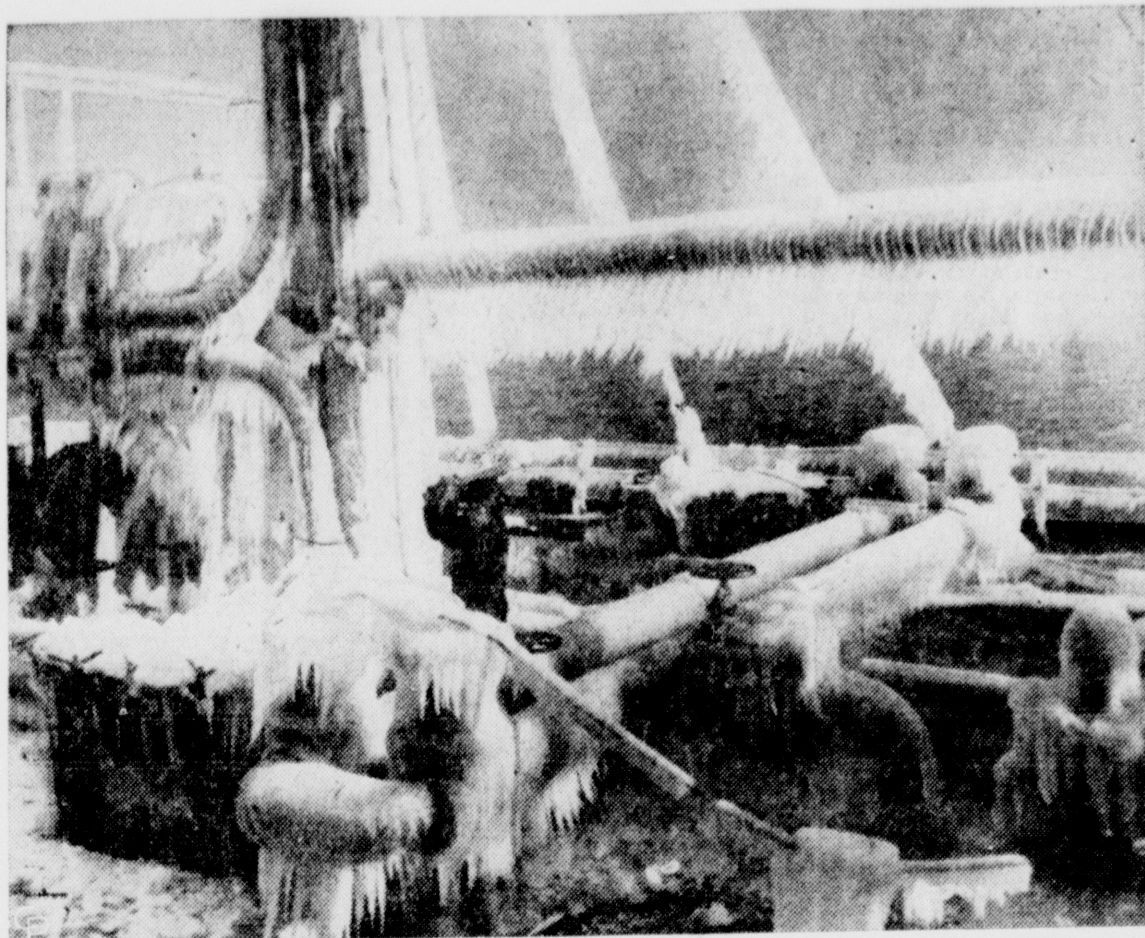

Vandenberg's resignation is expected to be given to the committee at its meeting next Friday.

U.S. Prof Completes New Zealand Trip

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Many New Zealanders feel that "Americans go to school to prepare for a life of leisure," Dr. E. Laurence Palmer, nature studies authority, found during a five months' stay in that country.

As a visiting professor under the Fulbright Act, Dr. Palmer went to every university and teacher-training institution in the 1,000-mile length of the South Pacific islands.

Commenting on the economic system, he said that New Zealanders are living in a status of "glorified mediocrity." Completely socialistic, the country provides little incentive for extensive research or extra effort, Professor Palmer feels.

He traveled a total of 15,000 miles to help the people in teaching science. He found many of their techniques outmoded by American methods, but commented favorably on their great use of first hand observation and their approach to reality in research, rather than relying on books alone. Dr. Palmer said he tried to give New Zealanders a new slant on life in America.

Mrs. Grace Crawford Cites Recipe For Good Living

"Half of the medicine is peace of mind," says Mrs. Grace Crawford, dietitian at the Henry County hospital at New Castle, Ind. Mrs. Crawford is the sister of Dr. William A. Womer, city health officer of New Castle, Pa.

Mrs. Crawford has been at the hospital since October. Before that she had held similar positions at Montefiore hospital in New York City, at the General hospital in Orange City, Tex., and in Williams, W. Va. The surprising fact is that she has been working at her profession only the past four years. Her snowy white hair would seem to indicate that she had been so employed a much longer time.

A widow for 20 years, she traveled over the United States and to Europe. She grew tired of that, and so accepted a position as superintendent of an orphanage. She did not like the idea that many of the children had parents, but they did not want to be bothered with them.

An offer of a job as dean of a girls school in Mathison, Miss., was the way she began her present work. She and another woman voluntarily made a switch in positions to their mutual satisfaction. Always interested in foods and cooking, she found the job much to her liking. Since then she has gone to school and taken special courses and reads extensively on the subject.

Mrs. Crawford likes her present job because of the sense of being of service. She likes to talk to the patients and do what she can to make their stay in the hospital pleasant.

Here, in her home-town, she had been active in the Eastern Star and various other women's clubs.

Will Take Witnesses To Look At Suspect

State police of the New Castle jurisdiction will take witnesses of the Produce Street liquor store, to Mercer county today to attempt an identification of Haywood Mackey, Youngstown, wounded twice by Farrell police and liquor control board officers when trapped in an attempt to rob the Farrell liquor store, Saturday night. The Produce Street store was robbed last July by a colored man who leaped over the counter and took hundreds of dollars.

Ohio's polio toll this year is about 1,660, compared with some 1,064 at the same time last year.

Central Christian Banquet Given For Mothers And Sons

Special Recognition Given Various Groups At Dinner Event On Thursday Evening

Members and friends of Central Christian church assembled in the church dining room Thursday evening at 6:30 to honor the mothers and sons of the congregation. Mrs. James Davis served as program leader during the evening.

A scripture reading by Mrs. Harry Redman opened the program, followed by the invocation given by Mrs. James N. Rainey. Group singing was enjoyed, led by Elmer Glass as the ladies served. Mrs. George Bauman presided at the piano.

Following the meal, the program consisted of a vocal solo by Bobby Kwiat, accordion solo, Joseph Kosinski, with the two talented young men following with a varied musical program. Others on the program included: vocal solo, Mary Lewis; duet, Sylvia Shoaff and William Sentgeorge.

The toast to the mothers was given by Phil Phelps; the response by Mrs. Norman Zeigler. Presentations were made by Mrs. Davis to Mrs. Howard Zeigler, who was the mother with the youngest son, Jackie LeRoy, two months old; to Mrs. William Barber, with the most sons present, Donald Barber, Hollis Barber, Alfred Barber, and Lee Barber, all of New Castle, except Alfred, of Youngstown.

Special recognition was given Mrs. Thomas Phelps by the congregation. Each month, Central church recognizes one or more of her outstanding members. The benediction was given by the minister, Rev. James N. Rainey. The meal was served by the Dorcas Club.

The next social event is planned for February 23, when a fellowship dinner will be served.

Harlansburg P.T.A. Hears James C. Fink

'Practicing Democracy' Topic Discussed By Mr. Fink; Scout Troop Planned

Members of the Harlansburg Parent-Teachers' Association met recently in the school auditorium. President Martha North conducted the business portion of the meeting.

Rev. Joseph Leichter, chairman of the Boy Scout committee, reported on the possibility of organizing a Boy Scout troop in the community. Some progress has been made, but a scoutmaster has not yet been obtained. The association is eager to sponsor such an organization in the interest of the young boys of the community.

Several musical numbers were presented by a four-piece orchestra under the direction of Esther Eakin, music supervisor.

Mabel Kneram, program chairman, introduced James C. Fink as guest speaker. Mr. Fink spoke on "Practicing Democracy", which proved to be entertaining as well as informative. This subject dealt with parliamentary procedure used in conducting a business meeting, and outlined the various types of motions that are used. A mock meeting was staged with principal Irwin Stunkard acting as chairman and president Martha North as secretary. Cards containing various types of motions were distributed among the members, and under the direction of Mr. Fink these cards were read, and the "chairman" had to determine the type of motion being read.

Refreshments were served later by the hostesses, Martha North, Mrs. Currie, Vivian Hall and Sally Hellyer.

Truck Driver Is Held After Death Of Man In Crash

RADNOR, Pa., Jan. 27.—(INS)—A Harrisburg truck driver has been held in $2500 bail in connection with a highway collision in Radnor which cost the life of Charles McMahon, 30, of Englewood, near Pittsburgh.

McMahon died in Bryn Mawr hospital three hours after his chest was crushed in a collision of his car and a trailer truck operated by Donald H. Helsey, 22, of (N. 6th St.) Harrisburg.

McMahon's wife Minnie, also 30, was reported in critical condition at the same hospital with chest injuries and a possible skull fracture.

Helsey was arraigned before Magistrate Thomas Dobson of Radnor on charges of reckless driving, assault and battery and involuntary manslaughter.

Another Lesson In Arithmetic

ST. LOUIS.—(INS)—If you don't believe that one plus one can equal two and one-half you haven't been talking to a chemist lately.

The unbelievable arithmetic may very likely be going on in your own dishpan or washing machine when you use many of the new washing compounds on the market. Chemists can't fully explain this mad-hatter addition, known as "building" among soap manufacturers.

Laboratory and laundry tests show, however, that sometimes when equal quantities of two cleaning compounds are mixed, their combined ability to clean is greater than the sum of their separate abilities.

Somehow they stimulate one another. Two known "builders" are sodium tripolyphosphate and tetrasodium pyrophosphate, now frequently mixed with synthetic detergents to boost the soil-removing ability of a cleaning compound.

Addition To Be Built To Odd Fellows Home

GROVE CITY, Jan. 27.—Board of directors of the Odd Fellows Home for the Aged and Infirmed have decided to build an addition to their home.

A contract for a three-story building containing a recreation room, chapel, and convalescing department was signed by the president, Walter H. Klein, to be erected on the east wing of the present home at Grove City, Pa. The estimated cost will be $100,000. This aged home has 120 aged people, and the new addition will add approximately 30 more residents.

The original home was built in 1902. In 1925 another 50-room addition was added. Upon completion of this program, it will be one of the finest aged homes in the United States. The home is open to visitors any day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

COMEDY STAR ILL
CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Illness of Lynn Bari, star of the comedy "Light Up the Sky" gave two actresses a chance to play the feature role at Chicago's Studebaker theater last night.

Jane Middleton, who played the part for eight months on Broadway, was delayed in a plane flight from New York. So Diana Herbert, 22-year-old daughter of playwright F. Hugh Herbert, went on for the first act.

Just before the second act, Miss Middleton arrived and stepped in for the rest of the performance.

Miss Bari was hospitalized with a virus infection.

INFORMAL WEDDING
"I am to be married in traveling clothes but will have two attendants (maid-of-honor and best man) and will have a reception at home." (1) Must I send invitations? If so, what kind? Would it be permissible for me to invite guests verbally? (2) Should I invite the minister who will perform the ceremony? If so, will a verbal invitation suffice? (3) The minister is a stranger. Must I take him around and introduce him to all of the guests? (4) If I thank each guest personally for gifts, must I also write thank-you notes? (5) About refreshments at the reception. We plan to seat the bride party. Will it be proper to serve the rest of the guests at a stand-up luncheon.

Answer: (1) While it is proper at an informal wedding to invite guests verbally, it is much more gracious to write a note to each one. Of course, when the wedding is to be formal, formal, engraved invitations should be sent.

(2) It is customary to send an invitation to the officiating minister and his wife. At an informal wedding, the invitation may be given verbally either at the rehearsal or when you make arrangements for the wedding. (3) If you have a large number of guests, you need not take him around to meet individually all of them. Introduce him to those seated nearby. If you will have only a few guests, introduce him individually to all.

(4) Even though you thank verbally those who were kind enough to give you presents, you must also write a thank-you note to each.

(5) It is entirely proper to have a sit-down breakfast for the bridal party and serves the other guests buffet.

Question: Must I, as the maid-of-honor, buy the bride a gift in addition to my gift to the bride and groom?
Answer: The wedding gifts are sent to the bride and not to the groom. Even the groom's friends address their gifts to the bride whether they have met her or not. Therefore, one gift from you will be sufficient.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Attention Hubbies Of Nagging Wives

CLEVELAND.—(INS)—The average wife demands flattery and attention from hubby in return for which she treats him like a slave. This observation comes, not from a complaining husband but from an experienced sociologist, and a woman at that.

Dr. Brainerd Desaix Burhoe, a graduate of Barnard College and

New York University, thinks the wife puts herself on a pedestal, takes her husband's kindness for granted and expects him to grant her every whim.

"Most women have been reared in a super-romantic atmosphere. They believe husbands to be slaves and demand too much of them," Dr. Burhoe contends.

Dr. Burhoe has had experience in the fields of education, rehabilitation, social research, community organization, finance and public relations.

More Peanuts Milled
In U.S. During 1949

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Farmers' stock peanuts milled during the past season totaled slightly more than two billion pounds—the largest quantity milled on record.

The agriculture department said that cleaning and shelling operations during the 1948-49 season amounted to one and four-fifths million pounds.

The department also listed a total of 812 million pounds of shelled edible grade peanuts produced last season. This compares with 747 million pounds produced during the previous season.

Shelled peanuts used domestically in the last season soared well above the year before. Seven hundred and 10 million pounds were reported used during 1948-49 while 627 million pounds were used the year before.

Farmers Put Less
Grain Under Loan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department reports that farmers put more than 534 million bushels of 1949 grain and oilseed crops under government loans and in purchase agreements.

That marked an eight million bushel drop from a similar period of 1948 when 542 million bushels were under the support program.

As of December 31 there were under loan and agreements 313 million bushels of wheat, 104 million bushels of corn, 40 million bushels of barley plus smaller quantities of rye, flaxseed and soybeans.

NOTICES SENT

HARRISBURG, Jan. 27.—(INS)—A. J. Caruso, director of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, reported today that notices of revised 1949 contribution rates to the state's unemployment compensation fund have been mailed to employers.

Any appeal for revision of these rates must be filed with the bureau not later than February 16, Caruso said.

The new 1949 rates reflect last year's amendments to experience-rating provisions of the law that already have made possible savings of approximately $7,000,000 to Pennsylvania employers, Caruso said.

Bernard Baruch
Guest Of Honor
At 'Doe' Dinner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—There's nothing like a dame at a stag dinner—and that's enough to set an elder statesman to brooding.

That's also why Bernard Baruch, who at 79 probably holds the world's championship as a guest at official state functions, was the guest of honor at a "doe" dinner last night.

Baruch brooded out loud to Columnists Inez Robb and Doris Fleeson recently about the sad state of affairs when a man is asked to so many all-male dinners in line of duty and never gets a pretty girl for a dinner partner.

Inez and Doris, both pretty girls and resourceful ones, decided to organize an all-girl dinner party for him. Because the dinner was to be held in Miss Fleeson's home, they necessarily had to limit the list.

Baruch, however, had his dinner party. The only other guests were Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R) Maine, Mrs. Brien McMahon, wife of the senator from Connecticut, Mrs. Claude Pepper, wife of the senior senator from Florida, Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, the treasurer of the United States and Mrs. Stuart Symington, wife of the Air Force secretary.

Just in case gentlemen prefer blondes, there was one more blonde guest than brunette.

What more could a man ask?

Parents Will Meet Accused
Youth Today

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 27.—(INS)—Edward L. Gibbs, 25, charged with slaying a 21-year-old Franklin & Marshall College stenographer, will meet his parents today at Lancaster for the first time since the killing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gibbs, of Pitman, N. J., will visit their son in the Lancaster County prison where he has been jailed pending a hearing tomorrow and an appearance before a grand jury.

Gibbs, a senior business administration student, has signed a statement detailing events leading to the fatal beating of pretty Marian Louise Baker, January 10. Her body was found beneath a cottage three miles south of Lancaster four days after she disappeared. Gibbs, a married man, signed a statement January 18 but claimed an "impulse" prompted him to choke and beat the girl after they had gone to the secluded spot in his car.

Gibbs' parents were in Lancaster the day he surrendered to authorities but a slight heart attack suffered by the father forced a postponement of the visit. The parents returned home.

Defense Counsel J. Hensel Brown, son of a former state supreme court chief justice, said no arrangements have been concluded to have Gibbs examined by a psychiatrist.

Depressed Miner
Takes Own Life

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—(INS)—A grim police report today told the grim story of one coal miner's hardship.

Uniontown police listed Frank Starzyk, 34-year-old Carmichaels, Pa., digger, as a suicide.

The report details how Starzyk brought home his half-month's pay of about $30 for about two days work at the Robena mine near Uniontown.

"I'm not much of a provider," he told his wife, and then went down to the basement to think his problem out.

Mrs. Starzyk said she didn't want to disturb him, that he often retired to the basement and slept there alone when he was depressed because of the lack of work.

She found him hanging from a basement rafter yesterday morning. He is survived by the widow, three children, a widowed mother and several brothers.

Business Static In Pittsburgh

Business in Pittsburgh District Remained At Same Level As Previous Week

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Business in the Pittsburgh district last week remained at about the same level as the previous week with declines in production and originating shipments offset by gains in the volume of trade.

The Bureau of Business Research at the University of Pittsburgh reported last week's business was 169.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average, compared with the 170.5 average the week ended Jan. 14.

The rate of steel operations declined from 98.0 per cent of practical capacity in the week ended Jan. 14 to 95.5 per cent last week mainly because of a labor dispute in one plant. One additional blast furnace was brought into production during the week.

Production of bituminous coal declined about 12 per cent from the previous week, and was about 63 per cent less than the corresponding week of January, 1949. Electric power production also declined slightly.

Lancaster Couple Acquitted On Mail Defraud Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(INS)—John C. Faust, Lancaster county turkey grower, today was acquitted on all 51 counts of using the mails to defraud a number of southern turkey egg farmers.

Federal Judge Thomas J. Clary, who had ordered acquittal on 17 counts yesterday, quashed the remaining 34 today and called for Faust's complete exoneration.

On Wednesday, the jurist had ordered the acquittal of Faust's wife, Cora.

The indictments had accused the Fausts, who operate hatcheries at Ephrata, of ordering large quantities of eggs from turkey farms and then refusing to pay for them on the grounds that they were damaged or not fertile.

Government Changes Hog Support Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The government has decided now not to go into the pork business—at least not if things continue as at present.

Agriculture department officials said the price of hogs on the seven major markets will average out 50 to $1 higher than supports this week.

The government announced early last week that it would buy hogs, smoked ham and smoked picnic shoulders to bolster sagging hog prices.

Officials pointed out that the government stands ready to buy in the event of a real below-support hog price trend.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Next summer's swim suits will have built-in, button-out bras.

The new fashion gimmick, introduced by swimmer-designer Rose Marie Reid, is a lightly boned "convert-a-bra," which is buttoned securely into strapless, elasticized bathing suits.

After a dip, the jersey bra can be buttoned out of the suit, quickly dried, and used as an essential lingerie item under sunback dresses or formal frocks.

The innovation should give a lift to beach fashions!

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The ladies, for "luxe," have hung up quite an enviable record in the jury box during the past twelve months.

Two predominantly feminine juries sitting in federal court, after sifting the evidence in the two most dramatic and portentous realistic as any blackstone could acted in a manner as tough and post-war trials in America, have expected of his own sex.

The ladies, without a perceptible tear, have convicted (1) the politico of the American Communist party and (2) Alger Hiss, charged with perjury in connection with Communist espionage in the U. S. A.

Will Not Quash Legend

Yet two will get you ten in this corner that the scholarly behavior of the ladies of the jury in each instance will do nothing to quash the legend that women jurors are a sentimental lot, untidy in their emotional reactions, and a push-over either for any Don Juan in the box or any slick-haired, slick-talking mouth-piece.

It is now unshakably part and parcel of American folk-lore that women jurors are soft in the head, incapable of weighing evidence, and wholly irrelevant, immaterial, and non compos mentis.

Five minutes before the jury, composed of eight women and four men, brought in its verdict in the Hiss case, the gentlemen of the press, court attendants and various hangers-on in the federal building would have jumped at any sucker backing a verdict of guilty.

My masculine conferees were pretty certain it would be another hung jury. And for the same reason that the smart money all over town was betting on a hung jury: Masculine conviction that Mr. Hiss's fabled charm would triumph over the ladies' intelligence.

No one seemed to remember that the four jurors out of twelve who held out for Mr. Hiss's acquittal at the first trial last summer comprised three men and only one woman.

Played Important Part

Women played as important a part in the witness as in the jury box in the Hiss case. The fact that the two chief protagonists in this tragedy—for it is essentially an American tragedy of our times—were men, served to obscure the drama acted out by the women involved in the case.

The crux of the perjury trial lay in the bald question: Who lied to the grand jury, Mr. Hiss or Whittaker Chambers? That stark question carried over to the respective wives, to Mrs. Hiss vs. Mrs. Chambers, in a duel as intense and deadly as that between their husbands.

Mrs. Hiss was more attractive, better dressed in her prim, precise white-gloved way than Mrs. Chambers in her horn-rimmed glasses and her dowdy clothes.

But, oddly enough, Mrs. Chambers made the better witness. She was more warm and human on the stand and not afraid or scornful of righteous indignation in defense of her husband.

Fenced Too Cleverly

Mrs. Hiss, whom I had expected to win friends and influence jurors on the stand, was the picture of a well-bred woman of superior intelligence who was never forgetful of either fact. She fenced too cleverly for her own good, or that of her husband, and she matched wits too coldly with the prosecutor.

There was something very convincing about Mrs. Chambers; something a little too tight about Priscilla Hiss's mouth.

And then there was Mrs. Edith Murray, a colored woman so obviously honest, who was once a maid in the Chambers home in Baltimore.

Her's was secondary testimony, but Ah! How damaging. When Mrs. Murray placed Mr. Hiss in the Baltimore home, which he had denied visiting, she put in the hands of the jury one of the most damning bits of testimony it had to consider.

Granting that Mr. Hiss and Mr. Chambers started in this case, nonetheless the women in the supporting case were equally fascinating.

Huge Equipment Loss Is Reported In Philippines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Army Undersecretary Voorhees said today that more than two billion dollars worth of war equipment in the Philippines has been lost or stolen since the end of hostilities in 1945.

But Voorhees was unable to explain why the Philippines government has made a claim for 55 million dollars under an agreement which guaranteed it 100 million dollars from the sale of the surplus equipment.

The Philippine government maintains that so much of the equipment disappeared that it has realized only 45 million dollars from the sale of the remainder.

AUTOMATIC HEAT

MINNEAPOLIS.—(INS)—Automatic heat-control is almost as automatic a specification for today's new house as the bathtub, according to a nationwide survey of prospective home builders. The only dwellings being built without thermostats and temperature controls, said Thomas McDonald, vice president of the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator company, will be those below the Mason-Dixon line and "marginal" houses elsewhere.

Although it is not known when the first monastery was established, it is certain that monasticism has existed among various peoples of the world since a very early period and antedates Christianity.

Donate Blood On Bank Anniversary

James Davis, 320 East Garfield avenue, a machine setter at the Johnson Bronze, gives a pint of blood on the anniversary of the opening of the Lawrence County Blood Bank. Miss Julia Belak, a Red Cross blood technician, is shown taking the blood. Six men of the Johnson Bronze Co., donated to the bank on Thursday.

Assisting Miss Belak was Mrs. Olive Key, head nurse at the J. B. hospital.

Those donating were Eugene Flout, James Davis, John Cooper, Charles Augustine, Jr., (Augustine works a night shift but interrupted his sleep to donate), Howard Hutchinson and Wilfred Diamond. Another man, Robert Padula, was turned down due to a service illness.

Mrs. Key said that those who had Malaria or Yellow Jaundice during the last war, their blood could not be accepted. Each pint donated has a sticker carrying this message: "Blood used in transfusions furnished without charge through the Civilian Blood Donor Service of the Lawrence County Chapter American Red Cross. Any charge appearing on your bill is a hospital charge for technical services and supplies."

Art Houtteman, young Detroit right hander, participated in seven double plays during 1949, tops among American league pitchers.

A biographer says that Thomas Jefferson and his guests drank $10.855 worth of wine while he was president.

Theft Of Beeswax Leads To Charge

YORK, Pa., Jan. 27.—(INS)—A 30-year-old York man owning a home, two automobiles and a cabin cruiser on a $4,000-a-year income is under $5,000 bail today in connection with the theft of $42,000 worth of beeswax.

Robert W. Hughes, who waived a hearing pending trial in a U. S. District Court, is accused by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of transporting the beeswax—used in making dentures—across states lines and unlawful conversion of property.

R. F. Fisher, counsel for the Dentists Supply Co., of York, which reported the loss, said Hughes signed a statement last November detailing the illegal transaction over a two-year period. The attorney claimed the beeswax was worth $60,000 on the market although the firm valued it at $42,000.

BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 27.—(INS)—Police today identified the body of a woman found in the Ohio river at Beaver as Mrs. Sarah Wurzel, 55, mother of Dolores Wurzel who leaped to her death from their Pittsburgh apartment last June.

Relatives said they believe Mrs. Wurzel had been despondent ever since the death of her daughter.

Recommend Tri-State Water Supply Program

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27. — (INS)—A tri-state water program was recommended today to assure metropolitan areas of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania of adequate water "beyond the year 2000."

The recommendation was contained in a survey made by two engineering firms for the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin.

The report suggested the creation of a Delaware river water commission authorized to "plan, finance, construct and operate an integrated water project."

Such a plan is "necessary, feasible and advisable," the survey found.

Series of Reservoirs
The recommendations call for construction of a series of reservoirs on the upper Delaware basin which would make more than one and one-half billion gallons of drinking water available daily to northeastern and southern New Jersey, New York City, and Philadelphia.

Sufficient water supplies would be held in storage to assure a minimum flow of three billion gallons of water daily in the Delaware river at Trenton, N. J.

The first step suggested in the report is the construction of a series of reservoirs to supply 50 million gallons of drinking water daily to New York City and northern New Jersey. It would cost an estimated 500 to 600 million dollars, and take ten to fifteen years for completion.

May Need More

While the report sets forth that Philadelphia and southern New Jersey water supplies are at present adequate, it anticipates that Philadelphia's growth may one day make expanded water supplies necessary. When that occurs, it recommends the construction of a storage reservoir with a total capacity of 121 billion gallons on the main channel of the Delaware river at Wallpack bend.

The overall project calls for

Takes Issue With Some Of Wallace Probe Testimony

Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves Refutes Some Of Statements Made By Wallace

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27. — (INS)—Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, head of the wartime Manhattan Atomic Bomb project, has taken issue with the testimony of former vice president Henry Wallace before the House subcommittee.

In Washington, Wallace testified that Gen. Groves had told him in April, 1944, that he (Groves) "was going to chase the foreigners out of the uranium business."

"That is not the language I would use while taking to the vice president of the United States," Groves said last night in Philadelphia.

"As for foreigners, that depends on whom Mr. Wallace means by foreigners. My stand was—and is—that I will fully protect the United States to the limit of my ability at all times."

Wallace denied in his testimony in Washington that he ever overruled Gen. Groves, and the retired atom bomb chief commented:

"I testified at the only open hearing at which I appeared that I was never under any direct pressure from Mr. Wallace on the questions of shipments of uranium. I had no contact with Mr. Wallace."

Association For Blind Elects

The election of new officers was held and the following were elected for the year 1950: Harry Zeigler, president; Joseph Hartman, first vice president; John Panella, second vice president; Mrs. Floyd Perrine, secretary; L. G. Laurell, treasurer.

Ingrid Bergman's Divorce Battle Is Now Clear Climax

JUAREZ, Mexico, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Ingrid Bergman's long fight for a divorce which would free her to marry Roberto Rossellini nears a climax today in a Juarez court.

Dr. Peter Lindstrom, the screen star's husband, was reported in the Mexican city across the border from El Paso, Tex., and a court spokesman said the doctor probably appear before a judge during the day.

Reports during the night said that the screen star's present husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, had arrived in this Mexican town just across the border from El Paso, Tex., but it later was established that he does not intend to come to Juarez.

It was not immediately known whether Lindstrom, who had waged a long losing battle to regain Ingrid's affections, would cooperate in obtaining a divorce or would contest the action personally.

Lawyers who know the complicated Mexican law on divorce said Miss Bergman might have her freedom before the end of the day if Lindstrom "cooperates."

Elaine Kleeman and Lynn Slovsky were the masters of ceremonies with the following students taking part: Mary Stewart, Donna Lowe, Dave Alter, Lloyd Skole, Wallace Jones, Barbara White, Beverly Carr, Jim Johnson, Barbara De Leone, Jane O'Neil, Angelo Filigenzi, Bill Twaddle, Howard Myers, Peggy Marburger, Carol Staats, Coleen Deiger, Gertrude Ullrich, Jerry Pander, Dick Bradford, Patty O'Brien and Hugh Sturdy.

Jack Gray, who has been head basketball coach at Texas since 1937, was named to that post when he was 25 years old.

Retirement Plan Being Prepared

Actuary Explains Provisions To Board. Will Set Up Plan For County Employees

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Provisions of the retirement plan for county employees, permitted by the Act of General Assembly, were explained to the county retirement board Thursday.

M. R. Wert, an actuary of Huggins and Company of Harrisburg, spent most of the day with the board and the work of setting up the plan for Lawrence county is under way.

The new retirement plan differs from the former plan somewhat. The former plan was under an insurance company, whereas the one is controlled by the local board and supervised by the state. By law, Harvey B. Bush, chairman of the county commissioners is the chairman, County Controller Andrew M. Dadds is the secretary. The other member of the board is A. Lewis Conn, who was elected by the employees to represent them. When and if the plan is adopted it will be an over all plan in that it will cover every appointed employee in the court house. It is compulsory that all appointed employees enter the plan. It is optional for elected employees to enter it.

Contributions to the plan will come equally from the county and from the employees. The rates vary from 3.64 per cent of salaries to 8.40 per cent for male employees, depending upon age. For female employees it will be from 4.19 per cent to 8.40 per cent depending upon age. If an employee's monthly contribution is $10, the county will contribute $10.

In order to provide a reserve for the fund the county will pay 15 years prior contributions but will have 15 years to pay it. The employees will not make any prior contributions; the county doing all of this.

Retirement is set at 60 years of age but it is not mandatory. In the case of involuntary retirement such as failure to be re-elected or discharged, an employee may retire. In the case of disability, an employee who is totally and permanently disabled may retire if he has five years service.

Upon retirement the county pays 50 per cent of the retirement pay and the employee gets a percentage for each year he has contributed. In no case is the county to pay more than 50 per cent of the employee's salary.

This works in this fashion. An employee who has worked 40 years for the county may retire. The county will pay 50 per cent of his average salary for the past five years and the employee will then get one-fifth of his average salary for each year he has paid in. In the case of veteran employees now in service, if they retire within the next year or two they would get 50 per cent of their salary as a retirement plus one or two years allowance for contributions made.

Elected employees must enter the retirement plan within one year of election if they desire to participate. Otherwise they are ineligible. Presently elected officers who so desire, can enter now. The application within one year after election applies to officers elected from now on.

Similar plans are in effect in 27 other counties of the state. The Act of 1941 provided for the establishment of such a plan for fifth class counties. The Act of 1949 adds sixth, seventh and eighth class counties.

Employees who are on salary and fees will pay only upon their salaries and not the fees and the retirement will be based the same way. Any officers entirely upon fees may join.

There are several questions to be resolved before the county commissioners authorize the establishment of the retirement plan but these will likely be cleared away before long.

To repeat, the plan is compulsory for appointed employees. It is entirely optional whether or not elected officers join but they must do it within a year of their election or they are not eligible.

WHERE'S YOUR DISCHARGE

With the state bonus for veterans of the Second World War now an established fact, a few vets find they have lost their discharges. A certificate in lieu of the discharge can be secured from the federal government, but in the case of 19 Lawrence county veterans their discharges are still in the office of the register and recorder.

Not all of them are World War II discharges. Some have been in the office since 1937. Others were brought in for recording in 1945, 46, 47, 48 and 49.

Following is the list of men whose discharges are in the office of the register and recorder, Edward E. McConally. They can be picked up by the veteran identifying himself.

James N. Armstrong, Raymond Burns, Leonard V. Ballistoni, Gregory DiCaprio, Jr., Benny DiCarlo, Jesse F. Gehrken, Walter Tyler Grimes, William Hoover, Allen R. Houston, Ronald Mackey, Sterling E. McKee, H. J. McKinley, Edward McMillen, J. Marshall McMillen, William McVay, Sylvester Perrotta, Ralph Pia, Daniel Torsello, Robert Vaughn.

Do Not Call No. 8 Except For Police

Police headquarters, telephone No. 8, is being cluttered with calls for city hall offices with which police have no telephone contact. For instance, if the public wants a detective, the person should call 6270 during the daytime.

The telephone switchboard number in city hall is 6270 and the operator there will connect persons with the department or person desired.

Number 8 cannot be reached through 6270, hence, for police service call direct to No. 8 and for detectives 6270.

Plan To Incorporate New Castle Nats For $25,000

Al Scarazzo Heads Fund Raising Group

The group of New Castle business men who recently raised the sum of $13,000 to purchase the holdings of the Nats of the Mid-Atlantic league, met at the Hotel New Penn last night and started the ball rolling for an additional $12,000 through the sale of $10.00 shares.

It was decided by the men last night that the New Castle club will be incorporated for the sum of $25,000. Attorney Frank Moretti has been retained to represent the New Castle interests.

Al Scarazzo General Chairman

Alphonso "Al" Scarazzo, local well known sportsman and business executive of the South Side, was named as general chairman of the raising of the funds, earmarked for operating expenses. William F. DeCarbo, local, well known funeral director was named as co-chairman of the funds campaign.

The campaign will be known as the "New Castle Citizens Baseball Drive". William W. Smeal, local bus line owner has been named as treasurer, and Anthony Conn, young business man is the secretary.

Want Fans To Have Part

The group of foresighted men who pledged $13,000 to secure the New Castle franchise want the citizens of New Castle to have a part in the operations of the local club. In other words it will become a big community proposition owned and operated by New Castle money.

Pledge cards are being printed and will be available the first of next week. Fans may buy as many shares as they see fit. The shares will be redeemable at any time, by any of the stockholders.

Baseball clubs cannot be run on shoestrings, therefore it is necessary to have working capital. If New Castle is to transcend in the baseball world it will be necessary for the citizens to get their shoulders to the wheel and give it a boost.

Will Field Strong Team

Plans are under way to field a strong team in the Mid-Atlantic league. One that will be among the leaders in the circuit. Washington is giving the locals financial support as well as player support. The Cleveland Indians have offered to help New Castle with player also, having been in consultation with Mr. Scarazzo and Mr. DeCarbo yesterday here in New Castle. The Cleveland offer is not a working agreement, merely a loan of some first class material. Scarazzo and Mike Cannavino announced last night that they will have an important announcement to make next Wednesday about a playing-manager for New Castle. Mr. Cannavino is staying on temporarily to help the Nats get the 1950 season under way.

City Loop To Fete Next Month

All Ten Teams On 1949 Roster To Return To League This Season

City Baseball league officers and managers met last night at Carm's, West Washington street, and decided to hold the league banquet prior to February 17. Arch Davis was elected banquet chairman.

It was reported that the 10 teams which comprised the loop in 1949 will be on the field again this season, their franchise money having been deposited with the treasurer.

Applications were received from several teams which desire to enter the league. However, no action was taken on the applications.

Joe Hartman, former International league pitcher, will be asked to continue as league commissioner.

The officers of the league are: President, Don Thompson; vice president, Gene Melchiorre; treasurer, Carm DeLeone, and secretary, Arthur Alexander.

New Wilmington Meets Stoneboro

The Greyhounds defeated the visitors 36-33 earlier in the season at Stoneboro. The remainder of the teams in Section 24 are taking a rest prior to opening the second half of the section race Tuesday night.

New Castle Hi At Vandergrift

Canes Play At Vandergrift In Non-League Tilt Tonight, Reed Missing

New Castle high school's Red Hurricanes travels to Vandergrift tonight to meet the Vans in a non-league game.

This will be a return engagement between the two teams. New Castle copped the first at Washington junior high 48-43 before the Section Three race began.

The two teams have one thing in common: both are in last place in their respective sections. The Vans are a little worse off than the Canes, having an 0-6 record and occupying the cellar in Section One by themselves.

Reed Missing

Vandergrift failed to do better in exhibition games and dropped seven of them, making 13 losses without a victory.

New Castle will be without the services of Don Reed for the contest. Reed scored 28 points against the Vans in their December clash, and coach "Gig" Thomas' main problem will be to come up with a scoring threat to pick up where Don left off.

Hanks Defeat VFW, 64 To 40, For Eighth Win

Hank A.C. Leads District Basketball League, Challenge Morrell-Pulaski Winners

Hank A.C. rolled to an easy 64-40 win over the V.F.W. 315 team last evening in a District League game to chalk up their eighth straight win in the loop. Hanks got off to an early lead and kept it throughout the game, never being pressed at any time by the V.F.W. They led at the end of the quarter 17-11, and at halftime 28-16.

It wasn't until the second half that the Hanks really got hot and racked up 36 points while V.F.W. marked up 24, but Hanks had more than enough to win 64-40.

Wayne Gray Stars

Wayne Gray paced the Hanks scoring attack with a total of 23 markers, followed by Harp Janacone and Kern with 14 and 13. Best for the losers was B. Galanski, contributing 11 points to his team's cause.

The Hanks remain undefeated in league play with 8 wins and no losses. They will remain idle for a week and meet the second place Pittsburgh Circle team next Thursday at the Shelby floor.

The Hanks have obtained the services of Chuck Andrews, who recently obtained his voluntary release from the K.P. team.

Issue Challenge

It is also announced that "Harp" Janacone, Don Watters, Don Black, and Chuck Rea, who are all members of the Hank A.C., are not signed up with either the Morellas or K. Pulaski teams and will therefore see no action in the game between those two teams on Sunday, as was erroneously stated in last night's News.

The Hanks have issued a challenge to meet the winner of the Pulaski and Morellas series for the City championship.

Coaching posts nowadays have just one real requirement—consistent winning. Otherwise, another ex-football coach is seeking a job.

The outcome of the first New Wilmington-Mt. Jackson fray is still in doubt and if the results effect the league winner the game may be played over. It's in the hands of the WPIAL decisions committee.

New Wilmington, sparked by the brilliant Tom Hutcheson and newcomer Walt McGinnis, disappointed some of its most ardent fans by dropping three games. The Greyhounds lost a pair of heartbreakers to Mt. Jackson and Wampum and had a bad night with Shenango. "Win 'em All" could be a good slogan for the Eagles' quint if it wanted to get into the playoffs.

Shenango, an early season favorite, slipped miserably in the middle of the first half but showed signs of coming back with the win over New Wilmington.

Pressure On

Coach Eddie Nahas has three good scoring boys in Johnny Allen, Ed McCowin and Bill Getchey. A consistent Wildcat that gets "up" for return engagements with Wampum and East Brook can easily justify early season predictions.

Perhaps the only safe statement that can be said of the league is that it will be very close and very exciting. The pressure will be on every club at all times and a let down or loss in any one game might well cost the team a championship.

Good Shots

Wampum can boast of two of the league's best sharpshooters in Don Schena and Albert Armotorio. Schena is the top pointmaker with 130. Armotorio is in the number four slot with 88. Caesar Craine, Wampum center, is also in the top 10 with 54. In addition, this big boy has rated lots of superlatives for his play under the boards. Generally speaking, Wampum is a lie in the upper class of floormen and Darrell Runz has emerged as one of the best shots from way out and is always a threat. In the books of many followers of the county circuit the Eagles are the team to beat but there are several foes who are determined to do just that.

Defending champion Mt. Jackson, New Wilmington and Shenango are still definitely in the running.

Only Union and Bessemer can be counted out. Union owns a single win over Bessemer, and the Cementers vanquished Shenango. Because these teams are out of the running mathematically does not mean that they will not cause a lot of trouble. The section is really that close that either of the tail-enders could knock off the leader on a given night.

Rebuilt Mounties

Coach Fran Webster had to build almost a new team this year at Mt. Jackson. The winners of last year's title to Shenango in the opener and received a drubbing at East Brook. However, the Maroon and Gray was the only team that mastered the Indians.

Pat Kerr has not maintained the terrific scoring pace he set last year. However, the agile sharpshooter has shown plenty of class and he'll be an important, marked man in the second half. Bob McKinley has got himself acclimated in one tour around the circuit and should be even more valuable this half. He is one of the most promising sophomores in active competition. Kerr played only one minute against Bessemer last Tuesday.

Mt. Jackson has important away titles with Wampum and New Wilmington this half and will also be pointing for that return engagement with the Eagles.

County Cagers Stage Close, Exciting Battle

Section 24 basketball teams enjoy a night of rest from league play tonight but renew hostilities Tuesday in what has developed into a very interesting and exciting race.

Right now Wampum High Indians lead the pack with a 5-1 record. The Hennon team played perhaps the toughest schedule in the league by meeting Shenango, Mt. Jackson and New Wilmington on away floors. It beats Shenango, lost to Mt. Jackson, and eked out a close overtime win from New Wilmington. Next half these three foes will be met at Wampum.

The game at East Brook shapes up as one of the most important in the section this season.

Still in Doubt

The outcome of the first New Wilmington-Mt. Jackson fray is still in doubt and if the results effect the league winner the game may be played over. It's in the hands of the WPIAL decisions committee.

New Wilmington, sparked by the brilliant Tom Hutcheson and newcomer Walt McGinnis, disappointed some of its most ardent fans by dropping three games. The Greyhounds lost a pair of heartbreakers to Mt. Jackson and Wampum and had a bad night with Shenango. "Win 'em All" could be a good slogan for the Eagles' quint if it wanted to get into the playoffs.

Shenango, an early season favorite, slipped miserably in the middle of the first half but showed signs of coming back with the win over New Wilmington.

Pressure On

Coach Eddie Nahas has three good scoring boys in Johnny Allen, Ed McCowin and Bill Getchey. A consistent Wildcat that gets "up" for return engagements with Wampum and East Brook can easily justify early season predictions.

Perhaps the only safe statement that can be said of the league is that it will be very close and very exciting. The pressure will be on every club at all times and a let down or loss in any one game might well cost the team a championship.

Good Shots

Wampum can boast of two of the league's best sharpshooters in Don Schena and Albert Armotorio. Schena is the top pointmaker with 130. Armotorio is in the number four slot with 88. Caesar Craine, Wampum center, is also in the top 10 with 54. In addition, this big boy has rated lots of superlatives for his play under the boards. Generally speaking, Wampum is a lie in the upper class of floormen and Darrell Runz has emerged as one of the best shots from way out and is always a threat. In the books of many followers of the county circuit the Eagles are the team to beat but there are several foes who are determined to do just that.

Defending champion Mt. Jackson, New Wilmington and Shenango are still definitely in the running.

Only Union and Bessemer can be counted out. Union owns a single win over Bessemer, and the Cementers vanquished Shenango. Because these teams are out of the running mathematically does not mean that they will not cause a lot of trouble. The section is really that close that either of the tail-enders could knock off the leader on a given night.

Rebuilt Mounties

Coach Fran Webster had to build almost a new team this year at Mt. Jackson. The winners of last year's title to Shenango in the opener and received a drubbing at East Brook. However, the Maroon and Gray was the only team that mastered the Indians.

Demaret Leads Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 27.—(INS)—Golf's Beau Brummel, Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., led the pack into the second round of the $10,000 Ben Hogan open today but the man in whose honor the tournament was named was right on his heels.

With the aid of a hole-in-one, Demaret chalked up a seven-under-par 64 during his first round on the sun-baked, 6,600-yard Phoenix Country Club course yesterday.

Hogan Has 65

Hogan, the sentimental favorite of everyone, dropped a 30-foot putt on the 18th green for a birdie three that gave him a day's total of 32-33-65.

Tied with Hogan with an identical card of 32-33-65 was Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.

Snared, who fared badly in the recent Long Beach open, demonstrated that he had found the range again when he came up with a threatening 32-34-66.

Duquesne Plays At Youngstown

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Starting the second half of their 26-game schedule, the unbeaten Duquesne University basketball team will try for the 14th straight victory of the season when they meet Youngstown College tonight in Youngstown.

The Dukes are overwhelming favorites against Youngstown which has won only three and lost 13 this season.

Sugar Ray Robinson About Best In Fight Game Today

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Sugar Ray Robinson, who is panned for pound the best man in boxing today, avers he is ready to prove himself the best man, and you can forget all about the pounds.

Not only is he willing to defend his welterweight title, as he signified with a nice, gracious bow in the general direction of Charlie Fusari, but he is ready to win the middleweight title, and the heavyweight title too.

It may be in our time we will see a heavyweight champion lighter than Bob Fitzsimmons. If we do, his name will be Robinson. You can bet on that, if you bet.

What About LaMotta
Nobody who has to stuff himself to weigh 150 pounds has any business fighting Ezzard Charles, but I wouldn't mortgage the homestead on Cincinnati Ezzard if he did fight Sugar Ray.

Think what Robinson would do to Jake LaMotta if he ever got close to him. Or don't think—just look what he has done to LaMotta in the past when he did get close to him. That happened four times, and Robinson won four times.

He probably has the hardest punch in the business, as young Charlie Fusari may soon discover.

Quick on Feet
He is probably the quickest man of any on his feet, and his gloves are as fast as Joe Louis' gloves were ten years ago.

He comes into the ring in as good condition as he has to be in, and he thinks with the best of his opponents, and ahead of most of them.

There is hardly any question about Robinson's ability to beat Fusari, whose main claim to fame is the length he lasted against Rocky Graziano at the Polo Grounds late last summer.

Fusari gives better than he takes which is an admirable quality against a lesser foe than Robinson.

For that matter, there is hardly any question about Robinson's ability to beat LaMotta, who is either over the hill or kidding, and not a standup opponent for Sugar Ray in either event.

For that matter, you might consider a fight between Robinson and Charles.

Can Hit Hard
Perhaps if you took one of those machines that measure pressure translated into pounds you would find that Ray hits just as hard as Ezzard, notwithstanding a weight difference of more than 30 pounds.

Charles would have the edge in reach by an inch or so, probably, but Ray would have more than an inch difference in agility. Ezzard jabs more successfully, but Robinson is the more deadly in pressing an advantage.

The state of boxing and the state of Ray Robinson are such that, combined, they could produce a "triple crown" man for the fight game.

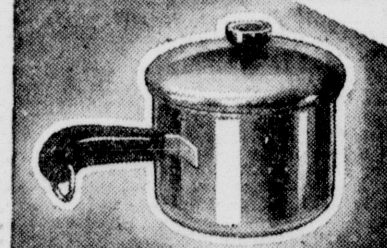

And then Joe Louis might stay retired.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(INS) Charley Spicer, 147, and Honeychile Johnson, 146½, both of Philadelphia, fought to an eight-round draw at the met before 2122 fans last night. In previous meetings, Spicer took a close decision and they fought to a draw in a rematch.

Pooch-in-Boots

PUSS-IN-BOOTS is out, and "pooch-in-boots" is the thing, decides Rocky, canine mascot of the jockies' quarters at Sunshine Park, Oldsmar, Fla., as he borrows boots of his master, jockey Rocco Sisto. (International)

SPORT SHORTS

Vince DiMaggio hit .367 in the class D Far West league in 1949 and slugged out 37 home runs. He took a back seat to a guy named Ray Perry though, who batted .404 and hit 45 home runs in the same league.

Penn State players experienced greatest difficulty in choosing a backfield for their 1949 all-opponent football team. Arnold Galiffa, Army, polled the highest vote. Other choices were Lynn Chandnois, Michigan State; Bimbo Cecconi, Pitt; and Walt Zinaich, West Virginia.

JUNIOR CHURCH LOOP SCHEDULE

Six games are carded for the junior church league play Saturday afternoon and evening. The schedule is as follows:
"A" League
Central Presby vs First Presby.
Croton vs First Baptist.
First Christian vs Second U. P.
"AA" League
First Methodist vs Epworth.
Third U. P. vs St. George.
S. S. Alliance vs AZA.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SHOULD LAWRENCE County Sportsman's association build a lake at their Harbor farm, it will be well stocked with fish, and in time, become one of the most popular fishing spots in Western Pennsylvania. . . . Up to now, there wasn't any deer problem to the deer problem. But now it seems either the Game Commission or the sportsmen will wind up next winter with red faces for one of two reasons: (1) the abrogation clause in the game code regarding Doe hunting, and (2) the "any deer" season proposed by the commission, most Outdoors writers, a few sportsmen and other conservationists, according to Carl Rogan of the I.N.S. Hunters who oppose the "any deer" proposal are backed up by the abrogation clause of the game code. This method of eliminating Doe hunting is enforceable by law when 50 percent or more of the registered hunters or farmers in one county sign petitions to stop the Game Commission from establishing seasons for the hunting of female deer. . . . February 15 has been set as the deadline for the entry of teams into the ABC tourney which opens in Columbus, April 15. . . . Joey Maxim, who took the light-heavyweight championship from Freddy Mills, is trailing Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion. Ezzard "nosed out" Maxim in bouts in this country. Here & There believes that Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, and pilot for Maxim will, in some way, inveigle Ezzard into a titular battle with Joey. Charles is a better puncher than Maxim. Maxim is a Fancy Dan or scientific boxer.

Ellwood City's puncher, Billy Pozza tangles with Tommy Howard of Columbus, O., Saturday night, in Ellwood City, in an eight round bout. While speaking of Pozza, it is recalled that, both Pozza and Emmett Rocco, his pugilistic predecessor, lacks the height and reach so essential to a heavyweight. . . . Charlie Mayne, former mayor, and a lover of outdoors life, from the time he was a boy, is undergoing treatment in the New Castle hospital. Here's hoping he is in circulation soon. . . . More than $300,000 in purses for pacers and trotters will be distributed at Buffalo Raceway, or Hamburg, N. Y., May 22 through July 29, this year. Entries closed February 8. Fifty horses are wintering here this year. . . . New 2:10 trotters in 1949 were Lucky Lee Prince, Coburn Hanover, Senator Song, Card Shark, King MC, Miss X, Scotts Clan, Akron, Brewer's Gallon, Dan O Dan, Doctor Parker, Fez Siskiyu, Little Fish, Earl's Friendly Bill and Hall Tass. . . . The Widower, 3:1.59½; Dominion Grattan, 1:59 and Arch Hanover, 2:02½ are at the Bonnie Brac farms, Wellington, O. . . . Pennsylvania Association of County Fairs meetings at Bedford Springs hotel, Bedford, will close today. It is reported by Charles W. Swayer, secretary of the Reading Fair, Reading, that "many fairmen favor passage of a pari-mutuel betting bill in Pennsylvania that would allocate one-third of the state's "betting take" in payment of the state veterans bonus, another one-third to schools, and another one-third to the support of agricultural fairs.

Only Bill Jeffrey's soccer team was unbeaten at Penn State in 1949. Better-than-average records were compiled by track, cross-country, baseball and golf.

Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of Penn State athletics, is the newly-elected president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association.

Records May Fall In Millrose Games

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The veteran director of the Millrose games said today that records may fall in up to five different events at the big indoor track carnival in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night—and the mile may be one of them.

Track-wise Fred Schmetz, boss of the Millrose, thinks that Gil Dodd's record mile mark of 4:05.3 can be assaulted either by Don Gehrman, the trail-looking Wisconsin runner, or Fred Wilt, the well-advertised FBI agent.

Game Protector Opens Corn Crib

Game Protector Cal Hooper today said that effective Saturday between 9 a. m. and noon, corn will be available for persons who wish to stock corn for game. The crib will be open every Saturday between those hours until the end of February.

NEW CASTLE A. C. BEATS HARTSUFFS

New Castle A. C. defeated the Hartsuff Bombers 72-65 last night on the Ben Franklin floor. Bud Bruce and P. Bucker paced the winners with 25 and 21 points respectively. F. Perrotta and A. Orlando were high for Hartsuff's with 21 and 20 points.

The New Castle A. C. will play the Greek Ahepa team Tuesday night at Senior high school.

The Dapper Dan Club, a sports-minded Pittsburgh charitable organization, gave a record total of $31,468.40 to charity during 1949. Previous high was $31,396.59 in 1947.

BARNEY McCOSKEY SIGNS CONTRACT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(INS)—Barney McCoskey, the Athletics' ailing outfielder, became the 19th team member to sign his 1950 contract today.

McCoskey, a 328 hitter in 1948, was operated on Dec. 1 in Detroit for a lame back. He wrote assistant A's manager Earle Mack:

"My back is still in a cast, and I don't know when it will be removed. But the doctors says I could be ready by March 1 when spring training begins."

GAME CALLED OFF
The game between the Bessemer Legion and the Universal Pottery scheduled to be played at Bessemer last night was called off by Universal, it is announced by the Bessemer Legion.

Joe Medwick batted .323 in the class B Florida International league in 1949. Johnny Rizzo hit .311 in the same league.

Business During '51-'52 Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1950—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)
BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 27.—In my recent forecast for 1950, I stated that 1950 will be almost as good as 1949. This means that most industries and most localities will average nearly as well as for 1949. It is very possible, however, that 1950 may be the best year for some years to come.

It should be remembered that January 1949 enjoyed several stimulants which cannot indefinitely continue. For instance, 1949 benefited from a marked increase in military preparedness. Also, in 1949, the first installment of Marshall Plan aid—amounting to $5,000,000,000—was sent abroad, much of which helped U. S. industries.

1950 will, however, benefit from the large amount of insurance money to be rebated to G. I. men. There will also be some other windfalls; but the European aid money will be less in 1950. The farmers will have less money to spend in 1950. All told, general business for 1950 need not be much below 1949. We surely live in a great country.

Normal Conditions Vs. Stimulants
Readers should, however, realize the great need of increasing stimulants in order to hold business up to "normal" and prevent declines. Those who have administered to the chronic sick, know that in order for the patient to avoid more pain the dose of bromide must be increased. Those who depend upon liquor for a "lift" know that the amount used must be increased from year to year, in order to get the same results.

The above illustrations apply to U. S. business. It is not enough for the government to expend "as much" in 1950 as in 1949 in order to hold up business. The government or private enterprise must expend more in 1950 in order to prevent a decline. The Republicans are wise about ever increasing expenditures and deficits; but in order to keep the national income up to the 1949 figure, it is not enough for Uncle Sam to contribute as much as in 1950 to the general welfare. He must contribute more than in 1949 unless the Republican businessmen have more faith in the country and they themselves finance more new industries.

Bursting the Balloon
Of course there is a limit to all things. The present policy of going into debt to keep up the national income cannot continue forever. If oxygen is continually pumped into the business balloon, it will finally burst from overpressure. If only the present amount is put into the balloon each year, the balloon will slowly become smaller. Hence, 1950 may be our best year for some time.

This is why I am advising readers to get out of debt during 1950. Neither jobs nor money will be as plentiful in 1951 or 1952. Now is the time to save your umbrellas for the inevitable "rainy days". Pay cash for what you buy during 1950. Give your employer the best you can during 1950. Many careless workers will be laid off in 1951; you don't want to be one of these. Increase your savings during 1950 as you may need to draw upon them in years which follow. Explain business cycles to your wife and children. Get them to co-operate with you.

Beware of Politicians
Don't let the politicians fool you. Most of them are not interested in your real welfare. They are interested only in getting re-elected. Moreover, the increase in salary which they voted themselves will make many of them in 1950 even more dangerous leaders than before. During these coming months too many of them will tell you anything to get re-elected. They will be giving you only temporary "pain killers". Don't be fooled by their harmful patent medicines.

Your hope and mine depends upon us doing more work and spending our money more wisely. There is no short cut to prosperity. Sooner or later we will learn that these politicians have been giving us only dope instead of an honest spring tonic. We need medicine which will make us produce more so that prices can be reduced and false "prosperity" can be avoided. There is too much thought about getting free aid and too little about creating more goods. For prosperity to continue after 1950 we must have more religion and fewer handouts.
